GOP leaders impressed

Nixon hints that tapes could be made public

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon met with Republican congressional leaders for nearly two hours Friday and reportedly hinted he would make the Watergate tapes public to support his claims of innocence in the scandal if U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica approves.

"We were assured the President is prepared to meet all charges that have been made, and prepared to refute them," said Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott.

He quoted Nixon as saying that when the public learns the contents of the tapes to be turned over to Sirica for use by federal grand juries, it will realize they are "fully consistent" with the President's previous statements.

Sen. George Aiken, R-Vt., said he was satisfied that Nixon "didn't know anything about the Watergate plans" for the June 17, 1972, break-in at Democratic headquarters. "I think he would like to get this thing settled as soon as he can," Aiken said.

"He didn't beat around the bushes, and he demonstrated a very healthy attitude," said Rep. John Anderson of Illinois, chairman of the House GOP membership.

He and others at the meeting —which Nixon initiated without the usual, pre-arranged White House agenda for discussion — said the President promised full cooperation with the Watergate investigation and increased consultations with leaders of his fearful party.

Anderson said Nixon was "receptive" to the GOP leaders' suggestions for repairing his badly damaged credibility among the public. The meeting, he said, was "a first step toward a very necessary dialogue" between the President and his party.

Two sentenced to forty years for 'acts of terror'

By JACK BURSON
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Arnold Keith Spears and James Franklin Hooker were sentenced Friday to from 40 years to life in prison for their throat-cutting invasion of a Pomona family's home the night of March 23.

Spears and Hooker, both 22-year-old, were sentenced by Pomona Superior Court Judge August J. Goebel who denied defense requests and ordered the men to serve several of the terms consecutively.

The two young black men, both from Riverside, were convicted Oct. 14 of assault with intent to commit murder, armed robbery and burglary (both with bodily harm) and assault with a deadly weapon.

Judge explains

Spears and Hooker stood, hands clasped behind their backs, for several minutes while Goebel explained why he was handing down the sentence he had decided upon. He also said he felt he owed it to the victims.

The sentence means the men face a minimum of 40 years in prison, but that after two-thirds of the term has been served they may be considered for parole by the state Adult Authority.

However, Goebel, in his statement cautioned that future board to consider first the protection of society "from such acts of terror" while members ponder possible parole.

Terrorized family

Spears and Hooker were convicted by a jury of being armed men who invaded the George Ryan home at 797 E. Harrison Ave., hogtied four family members, ransacked the house and cut the throats of Gale Ryan, 21, and her brother, Mark, 24.

Both younger Ryans survived to point out the pair as their attackers, but Gale needed 97 stitches to close her wounds and her brother needed 24.

The prosecution maintained that Spears and Hooker intended to kill all four Ryans, and Spears' presentencing statement to a probation officer tended to confirm that contention. In his statement Spears admitted his part in the invasion and was quoted as saying, "We fully intended to kill the victims."

But Mark Ryan, broke loose and fled bleeding from the house. The attackers fled in a car they had left outside.

'Not involved'

Hooker claimed he was not involved in the incident, but his statement to the probation officer implied he was, Goebel said. The judge then suggested that Hooker had committed perjury when he testified during the trail.

Spears, in his statement, said the reason for the attack was robbery, but Goebel said it appeared that the reason was really to instill terror. The judge said he found it "significant that Gale Ryan was blonde, blue-eyed and white," and he described the straight-razor attack on her and Mark as a "sadistic, ritualistic slitting" intended to bring a "slow, agonizing death."

He said that the terror Spears and Hooker had intended to instill had been successful and pointed out that the Ryans never returned to their home after the attack.

School dropout

He revealed that Spears is a high school dropout who joined the Army and later was given a dishonorable discharge after serving a 15-month term for robbery. He said that Hooker, who is married and has two children, made anti-white statements that night and was involved earlier in a racial disturbance.

Judge Goebel described Spears and Hooker as highly-intelligent young men, and said the court "agonized" over denying young persons their freedom. He said that their deprived backgrounds might explain, but not justify, a crime like theft, but could not explain such an attack on the Ryans. He termed the result of their crime "an utter waste of their lives."

After Goebel finished, defense attorney Jerry Lenior, who represented Hooker, filed a notice of appeal. Spears, if he wishes, has 60 days to file his.

Finally, Judge Goebel ordered the men to the reception and guidance center at the California Institution for Men at Chino.

Kissinger's 6-point plan

Israel agrees to peace— but 'only in principle'

Israel and Egypt agreed Friday to a six-point preliminary Middle East peace plan designed by U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. But Israel said its acceptance— after a six-hour emergency cabinet meeting—was "in principle" only and it was still seeking clarification.

U.S. officials with the globetrotting secretary of state, who was in Pakistan preparing to leave for China, called the agreement the "first tender root" of a lasting peace.

Kissinger told United Nations Secretary General Kurt Waldheim in a letter that Egypt and Israel had accepted the sixpoint plan for preventing war from breaking out again on the tenuous cease-fire lines.

American officials traveling with Kissinger in Islamabad, Pakistan, said they expected full-scale peace negotiations between Israel and Egypt could begin by the end of the year.

"Matters are moving raggedly, with difficulty and pain to a peace negotiation," one U.S. official said. But officials said negotiations for a peace conference already were under way.

The six points of Kissinger's plan were:

"A. Egypt and Israel agree to observe scrupulously the ceasefire called for by the U.N. Security Council.

"B. Both sides agree that discussions between them will begin immediately to settle the question of the return to the Oct. 22 (when the U.N. truce was supposed to begin) positions in the framework of agreement on the disengagements and separation for forces under the auspices of the U.N.

"C. The town of Suez will receive daily supplies of food, water and medicine. All wounded civilians in the town of Suez will be evacuated.

"D. There shall be no impediment to the movement of nonmilitary supplies to the East Bank.

"E. The Israeli checkpoints on the Cairo-Suez road will be replaced by U.N. checkpoints. At the Suez end of the road Israeli officers can participate with the U.N. to supervise the non-military nature of the cargo at the bank of the canal.

"F. As soon as the U.N. checkpoints are established on the Cairo-Suez road, there will be an exchange of all POWs, including wounded." (Egypt holds about 450 Israeli POWs and Israel holds about 8,000 Egyptian prisoners.)

Greyhound sued for $5 million

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A suit for $5 million has been filed over Saturday night's "gamblers' special" Greyhound bus accident which claimed the lives of 13 persons.

The suit, the second resulting from the bus crash, was filed by the heirs of Charles Stern, 45, of Richmond, who was killed when the Reno bound bus smashed into a cement bridge pillar on Interstate 880.

Stern's heirs charged negligence on the part of Greyhound in a Superior Court complaint.

Another suit was filed Thursday asking damages of $550,000 on behalf of Lenny C. Atkins, 31, a survivor of the crash.

Suspects in 9 murders linked to Arizona deaths

STOCKTON, Calif. (UPI)— Two men accused of the mass murder of nine persons in a central California wine-country ranch house were linked Friday to the newly discovered slaying of an Arizona couple.

Shortly after Willie L. Steelman, 28, and Douglas E. Gretzler, 22, were arraigned here for the execution-style murders in Victor, Calif., two days ago, officials in Tucson, Ariz., said they were suspects in two more murders there.

The discovery of the bodies of the couple brought to 13 the number of slayings in which Steelman and Gretzler were implicated.

Before the mass killing at Victor, the two were wanted for the slaying of Robert G. Robbins, 19, and Kathie Mestites, 21, at Mesa, Ariz., on Oct. 28.

Identity of the two victims discovered Friday was not disclosed immediately. Officers said they owned the car Steelman and Gretzler were using in California.

Tucson officials also were checking possible links between the suspects and the slaying of Gilbert R. Sierra, 19, in Tucson, and the disappearance of Ken Unrein and Mike Adshade, both 21, in Phoenix.

In California, investigators checked on any possible relationship between the two men and the death of a teenage youth about the time the two were believed to have been in the area.

3 major programs proposals

Area officials energetic in effort to save energy

By L. T. ROGERS
Asst. City Editor

A broad movement to conserve energy is picking up steam, with city and county goverment helping to set the pace.

Programs being proposed include a return to daylight saving time, restricting vehicle speeds to 50 miles an hour, and reducing temperatures in public buildings.

San Bernardino County Supervisors struck an early conservation blow Monday when they adopted a resolution seeking a return to daylight saving time.

Officials noted the entire nation is suffering from severe energy crisis for which there is no effective technical solution available at this time.

Daylight saving proposed.

"Extension of the daylight saving time would provide the means for decreasing the electricity demands, reduce the demands for costly low sulphur oil, and result in other benefits such as fewer traffic accidents, fewer burglaries and provide the intangible advantages of additional daylight working hours," stated the resolution.

Supervisors said such extension throughout the year could provide a fairly easy solution to relieve a portion of the crisis without creating a burden on the citizens.

Copies of the resolution have been sent to state legislators who represent San Bernardino County.

Supervisor Ruben Ayala of Chino, endorsing the resolution, said it is "worth trying."

Benefits cited

Other benefits could be fewer traffic accidents caused by darkness plus more daylight working hours, he said.

When asked about a proposal to limit federal employes to four-day, 40-hour, work weeks to allow thousands of federal buildings to be closed three days a week and thus save energy, Ayala said he could see no major problems at the county level.

In fact, he added, the four-day work week is being done by probation department employes in Ontario because of their need to see clients after normal working hours.

There are some departments, however, where it would be impossible for this to be done, said Ayala. "But I would have no objections in those areas where it could be done."

Heat reduction

Mayor Ray Lepire of Pomona said the City Council's agenda Monday includes discussion on cutting the heating and lighting for city buildings and putting a maximum 50 miles an hour speed limit on city vehicles.

"I also plan to bring up the possibility of returning to daylight saving time for consideration," he added. "It would give extra hours of day light and would be one way to conserve the fuel needed for lights."

Mayor Thomas Nuss of San Dimas said the matter isn't on Monday night's meeting but it might come up in discussion.

"I personally would be in favor of support-the recommendation for return to daylight saving time and other environmental measures, but I don't know how other council members may feel."

Close at 7 p.m.

A Pomona businessman has climbed aboard the energy-saving train by proposing that automobile dealers close at 7 p.m. on a daily basis to conserve energy.

Johnny Catron, owner of Catron Volkswagen, made the recommendation to the Automotive Team of Southern California, which will propose it to Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke.

That organization has also asked that the proposal spread to non-essential businesses" in an attempt to meet the current energy crisis.

The AOT, formerly known as the Automobile Oldtimers, is a nationwide organization which has thousands of automotive dealers and manufacturers as members. The national headquarters is in Midland, Mich., a suburb of Detroit.

Postal Service moves up dates for Yule mail

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Postal Service said Friday the energy crisis has forced it to advance the suggested deadlines for Christmas mailings by one week domestically and two weeks for overseas deliveries.

Postmaster General Elmer T. Klassen said domestic first class Christmas greetings should be mailed by Dec. 8 rather than Dec. 15, and surface parcels by Dec. 3, a week earlier than originally recommended.

Airmail letters and parcels within the United States, except Alaska and Hawaii, should be in the mail no later than Dec. 15 rather than Dec. 21.

The Postal Service issued a new schedule for overseas and military Christmas mail deadlines, two weeks earlier than originally suggested. The dates begin Nov. 13 for parcel airlift mail for servicemen in Europe, the Far East and Antarctica, and end Dec. 4 for international airmail to Canada and Mexico.

Klassen said mail-early deadlines were advanced because of expected fuel shortages this winter, cutbacks in scheduled airline flights used for much long distance nonparcel mail, and President Nixon's new fuelsaving highway speed limit of 50 miles per hour.

Ambush slaying in Oakland

Cyanide bullets killed educator

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — The bullets which killed Oakland Schools Superintendent Marcus A. Foster, 50, had been dipped in deadly cyanide, an Alameda County Coroner's investigator said Friday.

Chief Investigator Roland Prahl said, "There is no doubt —cyanide traces have been found on the bullets."

Foster and Associate Superintendent Richard Blackburn were attacked Tuesday night in the parking lot next to their offices. Blackburn was wounded and underwent surgery. His condition was reported as serious and stable.

Police Chief George Hart said Prahl's disclosure coincided with a letter written by the "Symbionese Liberation Army" which claimed credit for the attack.

The letter, received by news media earlier this week, said "cyanide bullets" were used in the ambush.

The letter, sent from San Francisco, said: "This attack is to serve notice on the fascist Board of Education and its fascist supporters that the Court of the People have issued a death warrant on all members and supporters of the internal warfare identification computer system."

The authors also said they had orders to "shoot on sight" other school officials.

First reports were that three young men ambushed Foster and Blackburn. But police now said a young woman and two men staged the assassination.

Homicide inspectors said they have yet to come up with a solid motive in the slaying.

Foster was cut down by seven slugs from a pistol while Blackburn was hit in the stomach with a shotgun blast. Foster, police said, was shot in the back.

Foster came here in 1970 from Philadelphia where he was honored for his work in the community.

Strikes in N.Y. hospitals said 'threat to life'

By United Press International

Deteriorating conditions at some strikebound New York City hospitals led to a warning by government officials Friday that patients faced "threats to life" that could order them shut down.

The union representing the striking 30,000 nonmedical workers at 48 hospitals and nursing homes defied a court order to return to work despite the threat of massive fines.

City Health Commissioner Joseph A. Cimino said conditions at some hospitalls were "quite critical' and were "threats to life." He said that 12 teams made up of medical personnel and city officials toured the hospitals throughout the day to determine whether patients were receiving proper care. Cimino said if any facility is found inadequate, "they will be ordered closed down."

Weinberger request

The federal government indirectly tried to get workers to end their five-day walkout Friday when Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger urged "a prompt and reasonable settlement."

"The health, welfare and lives of the patients in the 48 hospitals, now threatened by shortages of blood, fuel and medicine, should be everyones first concern," he said.

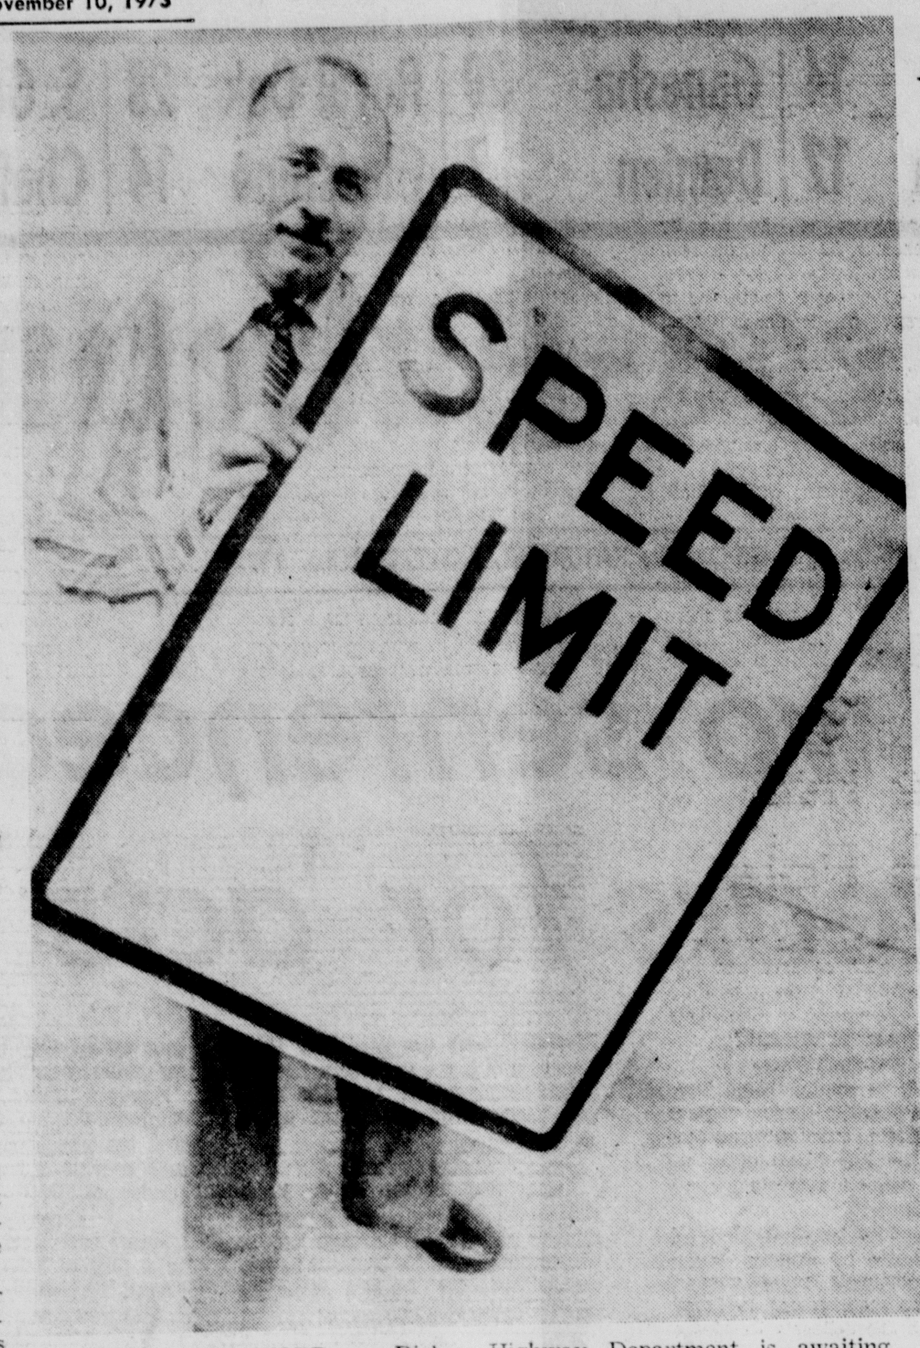

The hospital strike stems from the union's fight with the Cost of Living Council which has refused to allow a scheduled wage increase to go into effect because it is beyond the 5.5 per cent hike. The minimum weekly wage for nonmedical workers is about $142 a week.

Firemen out

In Milwaukee where a state of emergency was in effect, civilian volunteer fire wardens patrolled the streets to help meet emergencies caused by a "red flu" slowdown by city firemen.

About 200 National Guardsmen also were on duty in Milwaukee, where firemen have been calling in "sick," leaving reduced crews to fight fires.

A strike by stewards and stewardesses which has grounded Trans World Airlines since Monday threatened to diminish the takehome pay of nonunion members when the company announced Friday it would temporarily reduce the wages of 15,300 nonunion employes from 20 to 50 per cent if the walkout does not end by Nov. 19.

WAITING FOR WORD — Dick Coffman, Washington State Highway Department engineer, holds unmarked speed limit sign in Vancouver, Wash. maintenance office. The Highway Department is awaiting word from President Nixon on new highway speed limits before filling in the blank space. The President has suggested a slow-down to save gas.

Market 'totally confused'

Stocks show worst decline in 11 years

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks plunged on the New York Stock Exchange Friday, giving the widely followed Dow Jones industrial average its worst decline in more than 11 years— a drop of 24.24 points to 908.41.

Observers said Wall Street had found itself in a total state of confusion concerning the effects of a worldwide energy crisis. Not knowing which of the nation's industries would be hardest hit by probable cutbacks in fuel supplies and other essential energy resources, investors turned to panic selling that affected virtually every part of the list.

It was the sixth largest single loss in the Dow, an average of 30 blue chips, and the worst since May 28, 1962—in the midst of a recession period— when the widely-followed indicator dropped 34.95 points.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index, a broader-based barometer fell 1.72 to 105.30. There was a loss of 59 cents in the average price of a NYSE common share.

There were 1,115 declines, only 378 advances, among the 1,801 issues traded.

The average of the Dow industrials, which includes the giants of American industry, has dropped more than it did Friday on only five previous occasions.

The biggest one-day decline in history was 38.33 points on "Black Tuesday," Oct. 28, 1929, in an era when the economy was on a much smaller and simpler scale. The following day it dropped another 30.57 points, and on Nov. 6, 1929, the Dow fell 25.55 points in the business collapse that ushered in the Depression of the 1930s.

When the late President Eisenhower suffered a heart attack May 26, 1955, the Dow plunged 31.89 points.

The 34.95-point decline of May 28, 1962, was not precipitated by any particular crisis, although the late President John F. Kennedy had been expressing concern at the time about American business and industry falling behind the new European Common Market. In addition, that decline was all but wiped out the following day when the Dow surged back with a gain of 27.03 points.

During physical stress

Birth control pill linked to clotting

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) —Preliminary research was reported for the first time Friday suggesting that women taking the birth control pill run the risk of dangerous blood clotting when subjected to physical stress such as minor surgery. A remedy also was proposed.

Dr. Stanford Wessler said the risk appears to develop only when linked with stress but can be countererd with a safe anti-coagulant drug called heparin.

Not final

Wessler, professor of medicine at Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis, emphasized in a report to the American Medical Association that the results are preliminary. He said further research is underway to confirm the finding.

"My conclusion from this is if I had a patient who was on the pill and fractured her leg and was in a cast, I'd put her on heparin." Wessler said at a news conference. "Or if she had to have surgery, I'd put her on heparin. But that's doing something on the basis of incomplete information. The only reason I'd do it is that I know there is no hazard (to small amounts of heparin)".

A major step

If additional research supports Wessler's initial conclusions, the finding could represent a major step in medicine to learn about the formation of blood clots which can produce pulmonary embolism—the blocking of the artery between the heart and lungs— and sometimes result in death.

It has been known for some time that the contraceptive pill increases the risk slightly of women developing phlebitis-the development of blood clots in their veins. Wessler's report, however, was the first suggesting that these clots form when the woman experiences surgery.

Mummified body found

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —A work crew sent to clean out a vacant house Friday found the mummified body of a woman in her 90s under a pile of refuse.

Neighbors told police they had not seen the woman for about one year. She was identified as Martha Draheims, about 91, and death apparently was due to natural causes.

Police said the interior of the house was cluttered with papers, boxes and tin can lids. "The house looked like packrats lived there," one policeman said.

Chavez sees more strikes

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Cesar Chavez said Friday the United Farm Workers Union would resume strikes and picketing of California grape growers and, possibly, lettuce fields in the Imperial Valley because of the apparent Teamster Union repudiation of an agreement with the UFW.

Chavez told a news conference that the UFW would also intensify its boycott of stores selling grapes and lettuce across the country.

Woman, 37, suffers broken leg

Rider hurt as horse tumbles into flood control channel

CHINO — A 37-year-old Chino woman was seriously injured Friday afternoon when she and her Appaloosa mare fell more than 15 feet into a cement-lined flood control channel just south of the Radio Station KWOW transmitter on Olive Street.

Mrs. Carrol Yvonne Lewis of 3544 County Road was taken to Doctors Hospital, Montclair, suffering a broken right leg and head lacernations. She was listed in good condition Friday night.

According to West End Sheriff's Deputies and members of the Pomona Fire Department's rescue, the woman was riding her three-year-old mare, "Missie," on the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks that cross the San Antonio Flood Control at about 11 a.m. when the horse lost her footing.

Mrs. Lewis and the horse tumbled down the dirt embankment and crashed through the chain link fence above the channel.

Mrs. Lewis was apparently alone in the bottom of the knee-deep mud-filled channel for almost an hour before James J. Mason of Chino, also riding his horse in the area, came upon her and immediately notified the Pomona Fire Department.

Before rescue units arrived, a Pomona police officer, Skip Herring, arrived at the scene, jumped into the channel and went to Mrs. Lewis' aid.

Sheriff's deputies, Pomona police and firemen, as well as the Chino Fire Department rescue squad responded. Chino firemen used a ladder to get into the channel and rendered first aid to Mrs. Lewis, while an ambulance entered the channel at Grand Avenue and drove directly to her.

Deputies said about 15 feet of reinforced chain link fence were torn out above the channel by the woman and her horse.

Deputies caught Mrs. Lewis' unharmed but frightened horse and Officer Jim Lent of the San Bernardino County Humane Office returned the animal to Mrs. Lewis' home in good condition.

6'9" killer of nine gets life-in-prison sentence

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI) —Edmund E. Kemper III, a young giant described at his trial as extraordinarily intelligent, was sentenced to life in prison Friday for the murder of eight women, including his mother.

"Well, it's all over now," Kemper said after he was sentenced by Santa Cruz County Superior Judge Harry E. Brauer.

Kemper, 24, a 6-foot 9-inch construction worker shook hands with Prosecutor Peter Chang, and said: "Thank you for your restraint and for your help."

Then he also thanked Judge Brauer.

A few moments earlier, Brauer had told Kemper, standing before him in chains, that he would do everything in his power to see that Kemper remained in continement for the rest of his life.

A jury Thursday found the defendant guilty of slaying his mother and a friend of hers, plus six hitch-hiking coeds whose bodies were dismembered and strewn around the Santa Cruz mountains and beaches.

Kemper said he killed his mother to spare her the embarrassment she would have faced when he was caught.

From a telephone booth in Colorado Kemper called Santa Cruz officers and asked them to pick him up to stop the murder spree which he said was the result of sexual fantasies.

Public defender James Jackson argued that Kemper was innocent by reason of insanity. But psychiatrists during the trial said the young man knew what he was doing and that it was wrong and he was therefore legally sane. They said, in fact, he was unusually intelligent and this had helped him get out of confinement previously after he killed his grandparents.

Judge Brauer observed that Kemper, when he made his confession, had said he would surely kill again if he were ever released from custody.

Drug rehabilitation project ready to start in Chino

By LANGE WINCKLER
P-B Staff Writer

CHINO — Former drug addicts in the community in need of help with readjusting to society will get a helping hand when the Chino Council of Social Services (COSS) opens a rehabilitation center next week.

Final approval of funding for the center is expected at a Monday night meeting of the West End Drug Abuse Coordinating Council in Ontario. WEDAC directors will be presented a contract for the Chino project as part of a program for the entire West-End to move addicts back into society.

According to Mrs. Pat Schaarsmith, executive director of COSS, the rehabilitation program will be an addition to the organization's present program. If the contract is approved the program will begin operations Tuesday at the COSS storefront, 5219 B St.

"Since there was no existing facility in Chino," she said of COSS' proposal to set up the center, "the board of directors proposed to use its facilities for such a center. With a background of 10 years' established activity here, we felt this was a project we could take on." Augustine Tapia is president of the board.

She said the program will be a subcontracted service throughfunded WEDAC by a federal grant given last June to the West End group to conduct a broad drug abuse program in the area. Chino was identified in the application for $560,260 from the National Institute for Mental Health as a primary target area. The subcontract to COSS will provide $16,836 through next June.

To be called the "Chino Walk-In Center," the program will be run by James Lakehomer, 23, a Pomona resident now completing work for a master of science degree in counseling at the University of Redlands. Mrs. Schaarsmith said Lakehomer has had experience and training with the National Free Clinic in Southern California and had organized drug control facilities for rock concerts at the Ontario Motor Speedway.

She said the program will be both the first and final parts of the chain of activities designed to help addicts get off drugs and get into a productive life. "We'll take them in if they have no idea where to go, and we'll be there when we are done. But we're talking about as much as three to four years' care through the whole system."

Principal thrust of the rehabilitation center will be in taking on addicts who have already been detoxified and given counseling. "We are looking at drug rehabilitation," she explained, "rather than strictly prevention. Very little has been done in rehabilitation, most of the money has been spent on prevention, so we propose to spend the money to bring the addict back into society.

"One of the big needs will be to develop employment opportunities."

But the detail work of the program will not be laid out until Lakehomer is on the job, she added, so that the director of the program is working with a system he can comfortably employ.

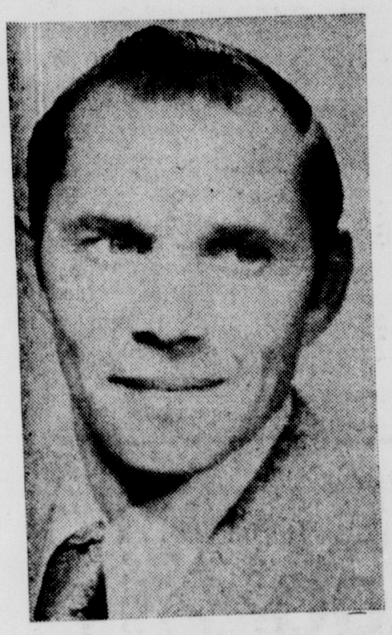

In distributing funds from the regional grant, WEDAC is working to fill out the chain of treatment programs for drug abusers. The COSS rehabilitation center proposal follows another granted in Upland to Proyectos de Accion Social (PAS) to serve the Upland-Cucamonga area, according to WEDAC Executive Director Joe Espinoza.

Additionally, Espinoza said, WEDAC is negotiating for two more "after care" centers, as he termed rehabilitation programs, and for four residential centers where addicts can go after detoxification. The organization already has one residential center in operation, and bed space for 50 detoxification patients.

Although Mrs. Schaarsmith said the program works primarily on Chino needs, which she described as "terrific," she emphasized that "there are no geographical limits on where our clients reside." A 24-hour phone answering service will be in operation sometime next week with the walk-in center, at 628-5111.

Discussing the need in Chino, she related, "I just don't know how to describe it. The whole West End is a very high hereoin-using area and Chino has a severe problem. We will be working closely with existing programs such as Jerico Outreach and the delinquency prevention program."

Asked about community reaction to the proposal, she noted that the city police department "encouraged us to try to get the center set up and feels it would be a valuable resource for the entire community. Our board if directors has been most supportive in recognizing the need, and I say that it is not a threat to the community, but a valuable service."

La Verne College has campus at South Pole

LA VERNE — La Verne College now has a campus at the South Pole.

The college, through its Field Studies Division is currently offering U.S. Navy personnel involved in Operation Deep Freeze at McMurdo Sound complete educational services of the Pre-Discharge Education Program (PREP) and the College Level Examination Program (CLEP).

The men, from Point Mugu Naval Air Station, will have an opportunity to earn a high school diploma from Claremont Collegiate High School following completion of the PREP courses and passing the military's General Educational Development test.

The CLEP courses are designed to prepare students to take the college level examinations by which they may obtain credits from colleges and universities participating in the program.

La Verne is operating two complete and identical schools for sailors stationed in the two main areas of the Antarctic base. Specially trained squadron members will be conducting the formal classroom instruction in conjunction with the Rapid Learning Labs, which are available for self-study at all times.

Those men enrolled in La Verne's "South Pole U" will also have the opportunity to complete any courses if necessary upon their return to Point Mugu through the college's Residence Center there, now in its third year of operation.

Fees cut to keep Oakmont after-school program alive

CLAREMONT — The city Parks and Recreation Department in an effort to keep the new Oakmont After-School Recreation Enrichment Program going has lowered the registration cost per week, but has set a minimum number of children.

The department is offering the program of arts and crafts, drama, and active and quiet games to Claremont elementary school children from kindergarten through sixth grade for $4 a week instead of the earlier cost of $8 a week.

The fee includes an afternoon snack.

The department must sign up at least 20 children or discontinue the program.

The fee remains at $4 whether a child stays one hour or the whole time from 1 to 5:30 p.m. each school day.

Recreation leaders are Mrs. Linda Fischer and Mrs. Ollie Milazzo.

The city started the program in conjunction with Oakmont School after several mothers who are either working or going to college fulltime were unable to obtain baby sitters.

The city discovered after starting the program that the response was not as great as anticipated.

Information about the after-school program may be obtained by calling 624-4531, Ext. 273, or 624-9041.

Partner slain in burglary

Suspect to stand trial for murder

ONTARIO — John Frank Antick, 45, of Banning, the alleged partner of a burglary suspect shot and killed by Upland police officers Sept. 28, has been ordered to stand trial in West Valley Superior Court Jan. 14 on a murder charge.

Antick, an ex-convict, was arrested by Los Angeles police and returned to Upland after an all-points police bulletin was issued for the arrest of the man who allegedly fled the scene of a shooting in Upland where Joseph Bose, 45, of Banning was shot to death after firing on police officers investigating a burglary.

Antick was charged by Upland police on charges of murder, assault on a peace officer and burglary. In California a person proven to be the accomplice of another person killed during the commission of a felony may be charged with murder.

In Antick's preliminary hearing the two officers involved in the shooting, Robert Smeaton and Nello Petronzio, testified they saw a car parked in front of an Upland residence Sept. 28 with a television set in its trunk. Smeaton said one of the men in the car was walking to the residence when they stopped to talk to the driver. The driver, identified as Bose, while talking to the officers, grabbed a pistol in the car and whirled, firing at the officers standing about eight feet away, said Smeaton.

Smeaton and Petronzio said they both ducked for cover and returned Bose's fire. Bose was hit by one of the officers' bullets and died a short time. later at San Antonio Community Hospital.

Smeaton testified the man he saw going to the residence from Bose's car fled the scene. Petronzio, in his testimony, said he did not remember seeing anyone else near the car or the residence just prior to the shooting.

Meteorite hits in Colorado

HIT BY METEORITE — Jack Murphy, geology curator of the Denver Museum of Natural History, examines a chunk of a three-pound meteorite which crashed through a Canon City, Colo., garage. The meteorite and the section of the roof were taken to the museum for study. Jack Stevens, who owns the garage, said he was not there at the time the meteorite crashed through roof, but that it scared his cat.

DENVER (UPI) —Scientists believe a meteorite which recently left a six-inch hole in the roof of a Canon City, Colo., garage came from an asteroid belt 60 million miles out in space.

Glenn Huss, director of the American Meteorite Laboratory, said Thursday the three-pound chunk of rock was "the most highly crystallized meteorite we've ever seen."

When it struck at a speed of about 500 miles per hour on Oct. 27, it left a gash in the garage floor and shattered into more than 47 pieces.

Huss said no one was hurt, but the unannounced visit from space did scare a housecat resting behind a pile of old furniture.

The pieces were sent to the Chicago Natural History Museum for study. It was composed primarily of magnesium olivine, iron pure pyroxene and crystallized troilite.

Huss said the meteorite once was part of an asteroid swarm — the name given to the pieces of small planets left when they disintegrated eons ago.

Crib deaths probed in California

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — "She's dead, Trish," John Smiley of Elsinore whispered to his wife one warm day last spring.

That terrible moment when Smiley found his four-week-old daughter dead joined the young couple in tragedy with Mr. and Mrs. George Grupe of Sacramento.

"I couldn't begin to tell you what it was like," Mrs. Grupe said.

She too discovered her apparently healthy month-old baby — her first boy — dead in his crib.

The cause? The sudden infant death syndrome (SIDS) or as it is more commonly known — crib death.

Every 53 minutes somewhere in the United States, the syndrome takes the life of another baby. It is the leading cause of death in infants between one week and one year in age.

The mysterious affliction kills an estimated 1,000 to 1,500 babies each year in California and 10,000 nationally.

No one knows why they die. No one knows how to predict the disease. And no one knows how to prevent it.

"Typically, a child is left asleep in a warm comfortable crib and when the parents return the child is discovered dead," said a report by the staff of the state Senate Health and Welfare Committee.

The aftermath of the death often brings, in addition to grief, anguished self-recrimination and guilt on the part of the parents.

Mrs. Grupe said: "I was positive I had in some way been careless, that I hadn't kept watch over him or listened for a cry or that I had fed him something or taken him somewhere — had done something to cause his death."

To partially respond to the tragedy of crib death, a move is under way in the California legislature to insure that authorities deal "more humanely" with the parents of SIDS victims.

The crib death legislation by the late Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, is before the Senate Health and Welfare Committee which is expected to consider the bill when lawmakers return in January.

The measure (AB409), backed by the Reagan administration, easily passed the Assembly earlier this year, 67-0.

Crown's successor, Bill Lockyer, D-Alameda, is carrying the bill now. He calls it a "significant" step forward.

The legislation requires an autopsy in any suspected case of crib death. The affliction cannot always be identified without such an examination, Lockyer said.

If SIDS is determined to be the cause of death, the coroner would be required to contact the parents and explain the nature of the affliction in an effort to ease the parents' feelings of guilt.

Local and state health officials would also have to exchange information on the disease in an attempt to determine the exact number of crib deaths in the state and to help keep abreast of the latest developments in connection with the affliction.

Lockyer envisioned parents of the victims being treated as Mrs. Grupe was by the Sacramento County coroner's office.

"The coroner's office lost no time in letting us know the disease is something for which no cause has been found," she declared.

Mrs. Grupe added that the coroner's officials were "very sensitive about how parents feel when this happens to them and they certainly made it clear it was not something I did that caused my baby's death."

Smiley, however, moved to San Diego from his Elsinore home because of his child's death.

He was arrested and charged with involuntary manslaughter and child neglect following the death, which the Riverside County coroner's office attributed to asphyxiation.

After the nationwide Sudden Infant Death Syndrome Foundation stepped into the case and hired an attorney for Smiley who was then a hospital orderly, all the charges were dropped.

Smiley recently told his story to a U.S. Senate subcommittee investigating crib death.

Additional testimony by Dr. Abraham Bergman, a Seattle pediatrician and president of the SIDS foundation, showed that many other parents, like the Smileys were never officially told their babies died of crib death.

Bergman declared a survey of 158 communities showed only half of about 400 parents in SIDS cases were informed their children died of the affliction. And, he said, nine per cent were never told by anyone why their infants died.

U.S. policy toward Chile upsets Rees

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Thomas M. Rees, D-Calif., said today that U. S. foreign policy seems to encourage the military overthrow of democratic governments that disagree with American policies.

The California Democrat also said the overthrow of Chile's elected Marxist government may be seen as a lesson to other Marxist movements that democracy must be destroyed if they are to survive.

Rees said in a statement that the United States had "aided in the ruin" of Chile's economy from the election of Marxist President Salvador Allende until his death during the military overthrow of his government.

The Chilean government was in economic trouble because of mismanagement by the Marxist government, Rees conceded. But he said if the United States had been "only . . . half as cooperative" toward Chile as it has been toward the Soviet Union "the tragedy of economic chaos and military takeover might not have occurred."

"It seems that our foreign policy supports elective democracies if they agree with us, but encourages their overthrow if they disagree with us." Rees said.

He said it was "ironic" that the United States continues to provide financial support for Brazil, the "richest" country in Latin America but one that is "ruled by a repressive right wing military dictatorship."

"It is also ironic that now that the military has seized Chile we are giving that country credits to purchase wheat and are discussing other bounties," Rees continued.

Rees said one of the results of the coup in Chile might be that Marxist-Socialist parties throughout the world might "reject the ballot box" as the test of their ideology.

Space age tools aid firefighters

By JAMES O. CLIFFORD

SUNOL, Calif. (UPI) —Space age tools are helping man fight one of his oldest enemies, the forest fire.

Just behind the California Division of Forestry's station here is an experimental device that senses when conditions are most apt for a forest fire.

The information is beamed to the orbiting Earth Resources Technology Satellite and passed on to a computer.

"This location is typical of a good many thousands of acres throughout the state," says William Onnes, a meteorologist on the staff of the State Forester in Sacramento.

"We feel that current and timely weather information is very important in managing our fire fighting resources," Innes said. "Hopefully, it will give us a little bit of a jump."

The Sunol station put out about 250 forest fires last year.

Just as important

Knowing where fires are probable and how they might act is almost as important as the men and equipment actually fighting them, said Fred R. Terwilliger, a ranger at the Sunold station.

Terwilliger held up his index finger to guage the winds and laughed.

Then he walked over to a white box that contained the equipment formerly used.

The ranger would check relative humidity, fuel moisture, wind velocity and direction.

"It takes about an hour and we have men in our area doing this at several stations," Terwilliger said. "Now it is done automatically and far more exact."

"We can know a day ahead of time what the conditions are and can call back people to be up to full manpower," he said.

The device was developed by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Ames Research Center in Mountain View.

"The California Division of Forestry wanted an automatic data gathering system which they could use to obtain data all year round," said Dr. Henry Lum, a research scientist at Ames.

"The State furnished us the sensors and we developed the electronics."

The information beamed to the satellite is passed on to the Goddard Spaceflight Center in Greenbelt, Maryland, where computers sort out coded data.

The information is then returned to Ames via teletype.

Finally, the processed data is sent on a facsimile line to the Division of Forestry in Sacramento where the information is analyzed to determine if a critical fire condition exists.

Watergate cited in Prop. 1 loss

WEST SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Elections in California and elsewhere Tuesday demonstrated "the first evidence of a massive public outrage over Watergate, says Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr., a Democratic contender for governor.

"The party of Richard Nixon, Spiro Agnew and Watergate sponsored the tax limitation initiative (Prop. 1) and the people of our state quite obviously wanted no part of that kind of government," Brown told the East Yolo Community Democratic club.

"Voters want a new era of honesty and openess in government," he said.

"People have been deeply affected by the Watergate crises and the strong feelings against President Nixon are carrying over to other Republican candidates and issues supported by the Republican party."

PROMISED AUTHORITY — Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski testified before the House Judiciary subcommittee that he had been promised the authority to Sue President Nixon to obtain White House documents and saw no need for his office to be established by law.

What Americans are doing in energy crisis

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Pentagon has ordered "a number of emergency measures" to cut energy consumption, including curtailing training flights by pilots, and is seeking still other ways to economize on fuel use, says Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger.

Other defense officials report that additional steps now under consideration include cutting back the performance schedules of the Air Force Thunderbirds and the Navy Blue Angels aerobatic teams and further reducing the number of days Navy ships spend at sea.

Schlesinger told reporters Thursday the Defense Department already has cut its energy consumption 11 per cent in the past year. He said further reductions have been ordered since the Arab oil embargo went into effect.

CINCINNATI (UPI) —Jack Hicks, Kentucky editor for the Cincinnati Enquirer, says he found driving the recommended 50 mile per hour speed limit was like a caterpillar trying to crawl across a highway.'

Hicks drove a five-mile section of Interstate 75 in Northern Kentucky both ways Thursday at 50 miles per hour, the speed recommended by President Nixon in his energy crisis message to the nation. He said at least 135 vehicles passed him during his 20-minute drive. He said he passed only two slow-moving trucks on a hill.

"I felt like a caterpillar trying to crawl across a highway," he said.

CHICAGO (UPI) — The 1,300,000-candlepower floodlights that illuminate the towering white Wrigley Building, one of the most prominent and durable features in Chicago's nightly silhouette, have darkened.

William Wrigley president of the Wrigley Co., said the lights will remain off for the duration of the energy crisis. Across the street, the Chicago Tribune Tower has its exterior lights turned off.

Wrigley said his action should reduce electrical consumption by 218,000 watts during the eight hours the floodlights usually shine during winter. The floodlights are clustered in big banks more than a block away.

The Wrigley Building lights have been on each night since 1924 except during World War II and a three-month period in 1971 for repairs.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind (UPI) — Labor Secretary Peter J. Brennan Thursday called for bipartisan efforts to combat the nation's energy crisis and urged immediate construction of nuclear power plants.

"I hope we will start putting up some power houses for the energy crisis. I think the crisis is as serious as the President pointed out, but I am sure we can take it on," Brennan said.

"It calls for cooperation of political affiliation or differences we may have. The crisis can be met. It will provide jobs and also cut jobs."

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Mayor Wyeth Chandler says one way to conserve energy would be to stop all school busing for desegregation.

"If President Nixon really wanted the country to cut down on gasoline consumption and voluntarily work to save energy he would order a halt to school busing, which consumes thousands of gallons of gasoline unnecessarily,"

"Until the President does that, I don't think the public will want to drive slower or turn off lights earlier."

The Memphis Board of Education is using about 1 million gallons of gasoline a year to bus, under court or-

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — — Oklahoma's largest electric utility is advertising it has "no energy shortage." Oklahoma Gas and Electric Co. has been running half-page newspaper ads telling its half-million customers it has electricity to spare and plenty of natural gas to run its generators.

George Cannon, the utility's advertising and publicity manager, said the purpose of the ads is not to increase consumption.

"This is not to promote greater use but to inform our customers of the fact we are not short of electricity," Cannon said. "There is certainly no reason for industry to cut down in our service area. We have contracted for our own gas at the wellhead. It's our natural gas. We certainly would want everyone to support what President Nixon said in his energy message."

Asked if the firm was encouraging its customers to turn down their thermostats 6 degrees as proposed by Nixon, Cannon said, "Not at this time. There is no reason to. We are just encouraging efficient use of energy."

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Police and fire officials warned today the gas rationing might become hazardous and open up new crime areas.

"What concerns me is that the natural gas and fuel oil shortage may send some people to using solid fuel such as wood, coal and coke, to heat their homes," acting Fire Chief Ed Avey said. "The use of such "hard" fuels produces ashes and cinders and this residue improperly stored in combustible containers could result in many fires."

Police Chief Carl Goodin warned that gas rationing "might open a whole new area of criminal activity" and he listed black marketing of gasoline, counterfeiting and theft of gas ration stamps, and possibly even hijacking of gasoline trucks.

Canine hero wanted his own 'pawshake'

CONCORD, Calif. (UPI) — Mayor Dan Helix presented Duke, a 135-pound police dog, with a hero's medal and shook hands with its handler, Patrolman Ekkchardt Keller. Duke extended his paw and let out a bark

The mayor gingerly accepted the dog's offer of a handshake.

Rattles & straws

Reap or sow? sow what?

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

There's time to reap and a time to sow, sing our long-haired young minstrels, not knowing what either "to reap" or "to sow" means, but they sound fantastic.

In Biblical terms, the sowing sounds so pure and innocent, like doing your thing with seeds and what-not in the field, or even, you know—getting married and like that. All sort of allergorical and embarrassing.

But after you have sown you still have to reap, for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap (Galatians, VI, 7). Which means the birds come home to roost, and the young man who took the dewy-eyed bride to be his lawful wedded, etc., soon finds himself changing diapers and fixing dripping faucets. (Or is that the same?)

Young John Newlywed finds himself caught up in the eternal cycle of "time to," and it is far more grim and inescapable than the plaintive chants of the bearded folksingers—though they they are also grim and inescapable. John's cycle is keeping up the suburban home and raising a Cub Den of bubble-gum agitators.

In the stillness before the spring dawn, John Newlywed stands sleepily over the stove, heating the bottle or mixing the formula. In the afternoon he mows the lawn, feeds the dog, and turns on the sprinklers. He falls asleep in his chair, bouncing the baby on his knee.

Time passes. Sunrise, sunset, swiftly flow the years. Now he is up at dawn repairing a skateboard, listening to Jimmy recite his lines for the class play, uring Sally to eat her Munchie-Crunchies and stop worrying about her science project. In the afternoon he takes Billy to his piano lesson, then umpires a Little League baseball game.

Summer is a frolic—camping trips, days at the beach, hiking in the mountains. One long round of sunburn, mosquito bites, twisted ankles and dysentery. Plus coaching Jimmy in Little League, quieting Sally's tears (that gloovery Eddie is going steady with Lucile), and clipping the hedges.

Before John Newlywed is really aware that he is married, he is giving Jimmy driving lessons and watching Sally swish off on her first date, experiences of equal trauma. He weeds the flower garden.

Then the time for writing checks for PTA dues gives way to the time for writing checks for college tuition. At Christmas little Jimmy, who now tops his father by four inches, craves a BSA motorcycle (he once flipped over a $3 toy fire engine), and Sally will "just die" if she doesn't get that new stereo.

Long years after he has said a choked "I do," John Newlywed, hot to get on with the sowing, is still wondering when the reaping is going to start.

Pediatrician thinks so

Stage for heart attack set during childhood?

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UPI) —An Arizona pediatrician believes the stage for an eventual heart attack or stroke is set in childhood and that one out of every two of today's youngsters someday will fall victim to heart disease.

"We have a massive epidemic now but I don't think that's anything to what's coming in another 20 or 30 years," said Dr. Glenn Friedman, of the Arizona Medical Center, Tuscon. "This whole problem to me is of primary priority in pediatrics".

He said at a news conference Thursday at a national meeting of the American Heart Association that arteriosclerosis - hardening of the arteries—is the nation's number one health problem. It is the process by which the inner linings of the arteries become thickened with deposits of fat and other substances, interfering with the flow of blood.

"The disease starts in many young people, maybe most," he said. "The patterns of living are established with the children the way we eat, the way we exercise, the way we smoke, obesity, hypertension (high blood pressure) are all there.

"We think if there's any reversibility, perhaps it might be best accomplished early in life."

Doctors believe that one of the key contributions to hardening of the arteries is high level of fatty substances called cholesterol in the blood. Smoking, high blood pressure and lack of exercise also are considered risk factors.

To counter the amounts of fats consumed, Friedman and associates have recommended to the parents of the children they treat that the youngsters' diets be modified to reduce the amount of fat eaten.

Too much protein?

It's interesting that the average American is taking twice as much protein that he needs and with it is coming fat and cholesterol."

He said a three-year study of children on this modified diet and those who were not showed no differences except that the children on a reduce fat diet had lower levels of cholesterol in their blood.

Friedman said he did not have evidence that he was going to reduce heart disease by reducing fat and other risk factors in children. But he said, "we know there's no advantage to having a risk factor. It's reasonable to assume, I think, that we'd be better off if we had lower risk factors."

"I think if the present statistics are any information, one out of two children and infants will eventually be involved with a coronary or a stroke. That's right now. Who knows where it's going to be in another 20, 30 or 40 years.

"It seems to me that the people who are having their problems now were probably living at a lower risk (as children) than is the present generation."

Maude turns cook in P-B Sunday story

Actress Bea Arthur, television's Maude, shares her choice recipes with Helen Dorsey in the Progress-Bulletin's Family Weekly magazine Sunday.

Probably one of the best things she ever made is lamb stew, the actress reports. "And believe it or not, I'm a very good cook" she adds.

In another article, New York Sen. Jacob K. Javits discusses the "Pension Plan Scandal."

"It is estimated that between one-third and one-half of the 35 million workers covered by pension plans will never collect a cent. Are you one of them?" Javits asks.

Tips for cooking Thanksgiving dinner will be found in the cooking section.

Burial costs going up in Utah town

BRIGHAM CITY, Utah (UPI) —It's going to cost more to die in this northern Utah town's city cemetery.

And if you want to be buried after 4 p.m. on Sunday, it will cost as much as 250 per cent more than the old rate.

The city council Thursday raised the burial rate from $60 to $70 for weekdays. And they added on a $25 overtime charge for burials after 4 p.m. The councilmen also upped the Saturday and holiday fee to $100, and set Sunday burial costs at $125.

But they didn't stop there. They increased the cost of plots in the city cemetery to $25 for the town's 14,000 residents, and to $75 for non-residents. Previously, plots had cost city residents $20 and non-residents $50.

Bridge

Not justified, but confident

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The late P. Hal Sims was undoubtedly the greatest auction bridge player of all time. He carried his card playing skill over into contract, but when the bidding began to get better Hal just refused to go along with the younger experts who had begun to dominate the new game.

Hal did have his moments of success. Here we see him bidding three notrump with no justification except his confidence in his own dummy play.

When Hal looked over dummy, he wished he had settled for the part score. Not that he was sure of making even two notrump, but at least that would have been a reasonable contract. Then Hal settled down to bring home three notrump.

East played the 10 of hearts at trick one and Hal was careful to win the trick with the queen, not the jack. He felt that West would play him for the jack in any event and he wanted to look like a man who was deliberately false-carding.

Then Hal led a diamond to dummy's ace; returned a diamond; covered East's nine with the 10 and let West win with the queen.

West was now sure that Hal was trying to get him to lay down the ace and king of hearts. West wasn't going to fall for that. He led his 10 of clubs and Hal romped home with game and rubber.

Saints still own the 'Smudge Pot'

By JIM McCONNELL
P-B Staff Writer

LA VERNE — The San Dimas Saints went to the heavens and got some timely luck Friday as they downed rival Bonita 13-8 to retain the "Smudge Pot Bowl" trophy.

San Dimas used a weapon which neither squad has resorted to much this season, the forward pass, to set up an early lead and then took advantage of two crucial Bearcat fumbles in the fourth quarter to post the win.

But perhaps the real key to the Saint triumph was a fired-up defensive unit which held the vaulted Bonita running attack to only one touchdown and 151 yards in total offense. That coupled with the two all-important fumble recoverys had an overflow crowd at Bonita High applauding the San Dimas defense all evening.

Bonita didn't do badly on defense themselves, but Jim Richards ripped them for 113 yards, most of it as the Saints ran out the clock in the closing minutes, and signal caller Dave Maloof clicked on five of nine tosses for 102 yards and the initial TD of the game.

Neither team could move the ball well in the opening quarter, but Bonita finally mounted a drive early in the second stanza. Due largely to a 21-yard run by Harold Drake, the Bearcats reached the Saint 28-yard line.

At that point the San Dimas defense stiffened, and Bonita was forced to try a field goal. But a bad snap from center found the loose pigskin finally corralled at the Saints 47, with San Dimas taking possession.

It was the break the Saints were looking for, and they quickly got another as Bonita was charged with pass interference placing the ball at the Bearcat 37.

LOCAL-NATIONAL Sports

Runs by Richards and Jerry Levreau brought the ball to the 21, and from there Maloof hit John Brahs for the first score of the contest. Maloof's try for a PAT was foiled by a bad snap from center, but the spirited Saints had first blood, 6-0.

Bonita put together a march to the Saint 28 late in the first half, but ran out of downs there as the San Dimas defense was equal to the occasion.

Bonita finally got on the boards late in the third quarter, and when it happened it happened in a hurry. After the Bearcats had taken a Saint punt back to the Bonita 45, Brad Frick ran for seven yards and on the next play Harold Drake circled his right end and sprinted 48 yards to paydirt. Bruce McNaught added the PAT and the stage was set for the pressure-packed final quarter.

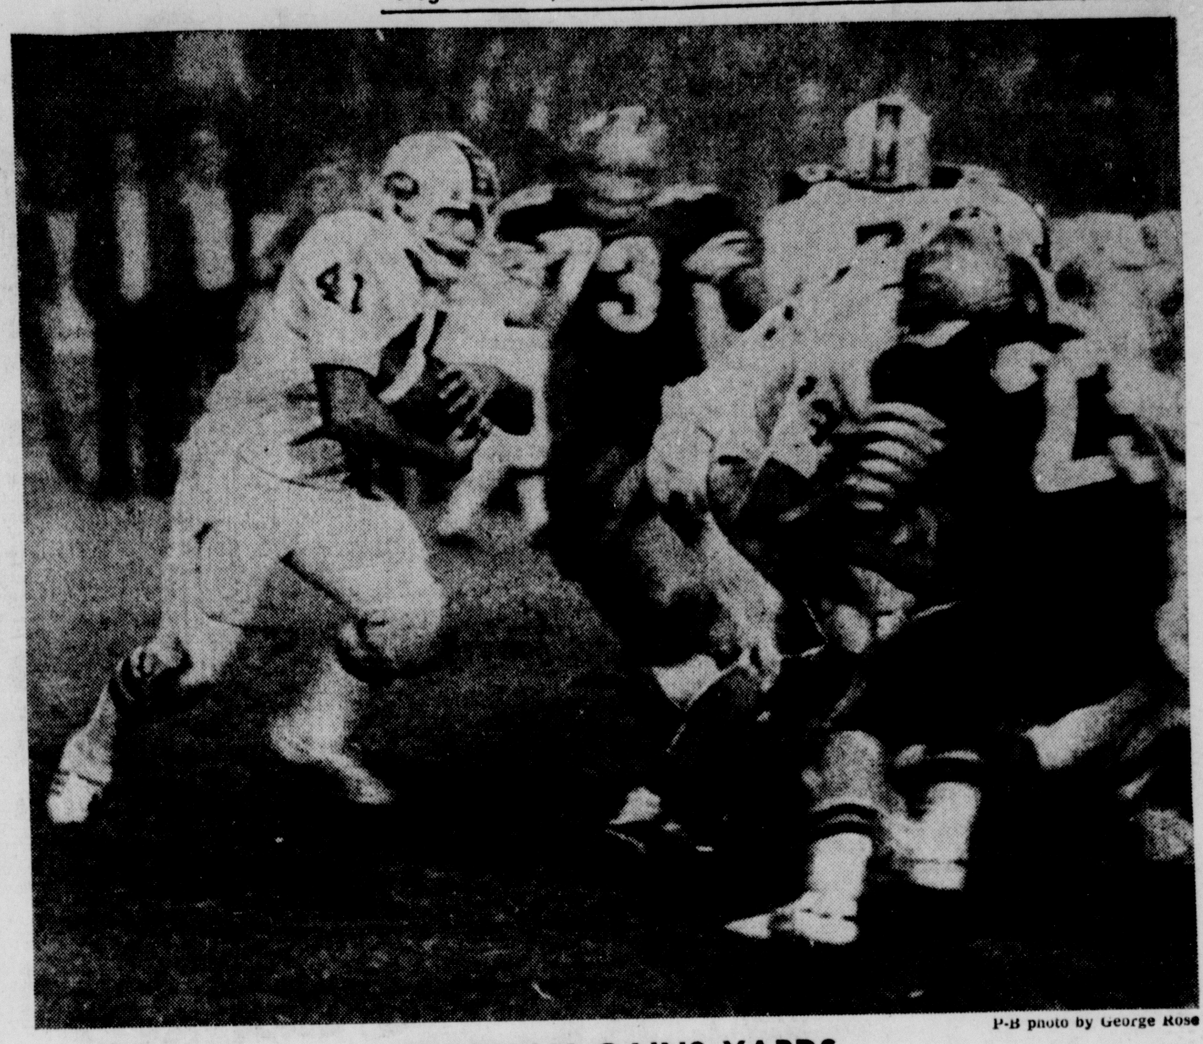

It looked like San Dimas had lost its' big chance for a win when Richards fumbled after taking a Malcof pass and rambling all the way to the Bearcat 15. Scott Johnson recovered the loose ball in the end zone for Bonita, ending the Saint drive and giving the Bearcats possession at the 20.

But just as quickly the Bearcats fumbled on the very next play from scrimmage and Steve Rodriguez eagerly pounced on the pigskin for the Saints.

From the 20 three carries by Richards brought the ball to the one, and from there Maloof dived over with the winning touchdown.

Bonita had one more shot at the Saints after Larry Franco returned the San Dimas kickoff and the Saints were guilty of a personal foul penalty. But once again a Bearcat fumble wound up in San Dimas' hands and the Saints maintained possession to run out the clock.

The win deadlocked the two schools with identical 4-2 Hacienda League marks, and coupled with the Royal Oak win eliminated both schools from title contention. The teams also sport identical 6-2 season marks.

Upland High's Corey Chapman (41) picks up some yardage against Chino Friday night in San Antonio League battle. Chino won, 3-0, on Stan Surina's field goal.

Gibby Gilbert retains lead in World Open

PINEHURST, N.C. (UPI) — Gibby Gilbert, giving himself a kick in the rear after dropping five strokes to par in just three holes, got enough of his game going on a cool, windy day to salvage a three-over par 74 Friday for a two-stroke lead at 136 after the second round of the marathon $500,000 World Open Golf Championship.

"I didn't expect another super round today," said Gilbert, who had a record-shattering, nine-under-par 62 Thursday to take a fat fivestroke lead. "I was just hoping to have a good one."

Ron Cerrudo, who says he has overcome the mental anguish caused by a divorce earlier this year, and Allen Miller, seeking his first tour triumph, were tied for second place at 138 in quest of golf's biggest jackpot ever.

Cerrudo, playing the No. 4 course, shot his second consecutive 69 and Miller, on No. 2, tagged on an even-par 71 to his opening 67.

Only two other golfers in the huge field of 240 were under par after the second round, and the two of them —Gay Brewer and Tom Kite — barely squeezed in at one-under 141. Brewer, who had to wait five years to register another victory after taking the 1967 Masters, had a 72 on No. 4 Friday while Kite, still winless, also had a 72 on No. 2.

As bad as the scores have been to now on the two testing courses at the Pinehurst Country Club, the situation could get even worse with a frost warning in effect for the weekend. The forecast indicated temperatures in the mid-20s overnight, rising not much higher than the 40s for Saturday.

Six players were bunched at even-par 142, six strokes off the pace, including Miller Barber, Bill Johnston, Homero Blancas, Jerry Heard, Rick Rhoads and Mike Felker, and another stroke farther back were Arnold Palmer and J.C. Snead. Palmer had a fine second-round score of 70 and said he was "hitting the ball considerably better today."

Mason Rudolph and Billy Casper tied Cerrudo for the day's low scoring honors, both with a 69 on No. 4. Rudolph was deadlocked with George Archer, Leonard Thompson, Frank Beard and Al Geiberger at 144, while Casper was in a group at 145.

Dodgers obtain Rick Auerbach

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —The Los Angeles Dodgers have purchased the contract of shortstop Rick Auerbach from the Milwaukee Brewers and added him to its winter roster while sending down pitcher Ted Gilje to the Pacific Coast League.

The Dodgers announced the transaction Friday. It brings the club player total to 39, one under the winter roster limit.

Williams paces Highlander win

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Derek Williams scored on an 80-yard touchdown run and carried the ball over for two more scores Friday night to lead UC Riverside to a 38-14 romp over host Cal State Los Angeles.

Williams collected 128 yards rushing on 23 carries. After opening Riverside's scoring with a first quarter 4-yard run into the end zone, he ran another one in to open the second half with a 3-yard dive.

His 80-yard run came in the fourth quarter. Craig Ditsch, with an 8-yarder, and Sam Smith, with a 24-yard run, also ran in scores for Riverside.

CSLA was led by Rick Holoubek's 35-yard touchdown pass to Steve Oslin in the second quarter and Danny Singleton's one-yard run. The Diablos, however, fumbled eight times, losing six of them.

Riverside is now 7-2 for the season. CSLA's record is 3-5-1.

Chino tops Upland, 3-0

Stan Surina does it again

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

CHINO — Coach Jim Rawls and the rest of the Chino High football team may have Stan Surina's shoe bronzed and framed.

And with a little luck the Cowboys might be able to place it right next to a San Antonio League championship trophy.

For the second weekend in a row Surina emerged as the hero for the Cowboys.

The junior place-kicker booted a 22-yard field goal in the second quarter Friday night here on homecoming grounds to account for the only score of the game as Chino nipped Upland, 3-0.

If Pomona should knock off Claremont tonight at Citrus College, the Cowboys would move into a four-way tie for the SAL lead with only one week left on the regular season.

Last week Surina kicked a 32-yard field goal with only 25 seconds left in the game in Chino's 10-7 victory over Claremont. Friday night's boot wasn't as exciting, but Rawls isn't about to be picky.

Stan's winning field goal against the Highlanders who came into the game with a 4-1 league record and tied with Claremont for the league lead, ended a 35-yard drive by the Cowboys that ate up the latter part of the first quarter and the early part of the second period.

Chino started the drive on Upland's 41 yard line and used up the last nine plays of the first quarter, ending up on the Upland 14 when the gun sounded.

Three rushing plays and one incomplete pass later, the Cowboys found themselves on the Upland six yard line when they called on Surina.

The ball split the uprights with 10:19 showing on the clock.

Two fumbles may have cost Upland a share for the league title, as the Highlanders gave the ball away twice during the game inside the Cowboys 20 yard line.

The first one came in the third quarter when Upland drove from its own 39 to the Chino 19 in 10 plays.

But on a fourth-and-four situation at the 19, Dominic Licavoli took a handoff from Scot quarterback Dan Spencer and appeared short of the first down. In trying to squeeze out some extra yardage Licavoli had the ball slip from his hands and Chino's Mike Nieman recovered at the 12 yard line.

Chino then moved the ball out to the 49 yard line before kicking it away.

The second fumble was really costly for Upland. Chino was threatening to score the first touchdown of the game early in the third quarter when Highlander defensive back Greg George picked off a Jerry Belmudes pass at the Upland one yard line and sprinted 60 yards before being dragged down by a pair of Cowboys at the Chino 39 yard line.

On the first play from scrimmage following the interception, Spencer hit running back Jim Christensen on a 29-yard pass play to put the ball on the Chino 10.

But two plays later, on the Cowboys six yard line, the Highlanders lost the ball on a handoff and Mark Roberts pounced on the ball for the Cowboys on the two-yard line.

Chino could only move the ball out to the eight yard line before being forced to punt. Upland took over on the Cowboy 36 yard line with 2:30 minutes remaining in the game, but the Chino defense was just too much for the Highlanders.

Chino got only as close as the Upland 17 yard line in the second half, but George's interception ruined the threat.

Defensive linebacker Scott Richartz was a terror in the first half, racking up six unassisted tackles and one assisted before the halftime gun sounded.

Rick Riedel, the super sophomore for Chino, was the Cowboys work-horse offensively, picking up 56 yards in 17 carries.

Corey Charman did most of the running for Upland, piling up 45 yards in 17 attempts.

Ganesha shows its stuff

By GRAHAM CROW
P-B Correspondent

LA VERNE — Oh, how Ganesha would like to start the 1973 season all over.

Garry Norvell's Giants were the preseason picks in the San Antonio League but a series of miscues cost the Ganesha team key games here and there, so Ganesha entered Friday night's game with Damien sporting on a 2-3 mark in the SAL and with absolutely no place to go.

But the Giants showed that they can play with the best the league has to offer as they beat Damien 20-7. At least they can at moments — Those moments when the team has the desire to play football.

Ganesha came out fired up for the game at Damien which had nothing at stake except for pride. The Giant defense held the Spartans on the opening series of downs and when Ganesha started its first drive on the 40-yard line, the explosive Wishbone attack was displayed at its finest.

Quarterback Tracy Cowger took the snap from center, faked the first handoff to fullback Jeff Lambert and then pitched to speedster Ron Jacques who swept left end for a 60-yard scoring scamper and the Giants were well on their way to a lopsided victory.

Damien responded with a drive which stalled at the Giant 4-yard line where Ganesha took over. From there, the Giants marched the 96 yards in 12 plays with Jim Maniaci getting the score from the two as a reward for his workman chores.

Maniaci had two big gains during the drive, picking up 38 yards one crack and 12 yards just before his scoring burst. For the game, he carried nine times for 126 yards, an average of 14 yards per carry while Jacques' stats were 21 carries for 163 yards.

Dave Segura had his second extra point attempt blocked by the Spartans and then the Giants seemed to lose interest in the game. Apparently scoring too early and too easily put the Giants at ease and it nearly cost them.

The two teams played an uninspiring scoreless third quarter where the most exciting thing for fans was trying to follow the ball on long passes through heavy fog or determining who the Damien quarterback was.

Spartan coach Ron Smedley alternated Dean Sickles and Larry Pekarcik as signal callers on each series and it was Sickles who had the honor of directing the only Damien scoring drive in two weeks, although Pekarcik, with his better passing arm, actually posed more of a threat throughout the evening.

Damien made the game interesting with two minutes to go when a 14-yard Ganesha punt put the Spartans in great field position at the Giant 19. It took Damien four plays to score as Jim Torrance cracked over from the one and Bart Sullivan, Damien's most talented athlete, brought the host team within six.

Both teams wind up their seasons next week as Ganesha meets Claremont Friday and Damien faces Garey Saturday. Both games will be at Mt. SAC.

Lakers halt Seattle rally, fight erupts

SEATTLE (UPI) — The Los Angeles Lakers, who led by as much as 20 points, held off a late Seattle rally Friday night to post a 118-111 National Basketball Association victory over the Sonics in a game marred by a fight between Spencer Haywood and Bill Bridges of the Lakers.

Haywood and Bridges had words with 2:40 left in the first half and then started throwing punches.

Both benches quickly emptied as numerous others joined in the fracas. The game continued after nearly a five-minute delay with both Haywood and Bridges being ejected.

Seattle made a run at the Lakers in the fourth quarter behind John Brisker who scored 17 of his 23 points in the period and accounted for 15 of the Sonics last 17 points. Seattle cut the Laker lead to 108-104 with 2:38 left.

However, back-to-back baskets by Gail Goodrich and Happy Hairston put it out of reach for the Sonics.

Gail Goodrich, with 36 points, led the Lakers and took game honors. Hairston added 21 and Brisker was high for the Sonics with 23.

Don Gordon's two goals pace Sharks to 4-2 victory

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Sharks, led by Don Gordon's two goals, erupted for three goals in the second period to defeat the Toronto Toros 4-2 in a World Hockey Association game Friday night.

Gordon, playing in only his sixth game of the season, broke a 1-1 tie four minutes into the middle period when he scored on a breakaway and then ended the scoring 14 minutes later as he won a faceoff and powered a shot straight into the net from 30 feet out.

Toronto opened the scoring when Wayne Dillon scored from a faceoff at the 1:57 mark of the opening period. Former Montreal Canadien Marc Tardif evened things with a 50-foot blast in a power play situation at 8:42.

Then came Gordon's tiebreaker and the home team increased its lead to 3-1 when defenseman Bart Crashley hit on a 55-foot slap shot at 11:02 of the middle period.

Toronto tightened things up when Gavin Kirk scored 2:30 later and then Gordon's second goal of the night settled the game.

Royal Oak cinches title

By TOM FAHEY
P-B Correspondent

CHARTER OAK — The Royal Oak Romans rode the passing of Clyde Christensen to a 28-14 victory over the Gladstone Gladiators Friday night at Charter Oak High and a clinching of the Hacienda League championship.

Christensen rallied his team for four second-half scores after his team had dropped behind 7-0 at the half.

All four scores came from the aerial attack and for the night, Christensen was an amazing 16-23, good for 253 yards.

The first Roman touchdown of the night came with a minute left in the third quarter.

On a first-and-goal situation from the nine-yard line, Christensen found Don Warren all alone in the end zone for the tally. Christensen's conversion pass to tailback Rick Hall put the Romans on top for good.

Royal Oak came right back a few minutes later after a Gladstone drive had been extinguished.

The Romans marched 45 yards in 6 plays with the score coming on a Christensen pass to John Ochoa. Covering 18 yards setting up the Ochoa score was a 16-yard pass to Hall who carried the ball down to the 18.

This second touchdown broke the Gladiator's back as they fumbled the ball away on their next two series, both leading to Roman touchdowns.

The Roman defense which allowed only 110 yards to the Gladiators all night, forced a fumble on Gladstone's first play from scrimmage.

Roman Chris Rio jumped on the loose ball at the Gladiator 24-yard line.

After a first down pass fell short, Christensen hit Warren for the third Royal Oak score of the night and Warren's third.

Warren had an outstanding game gathering in seven of Christensen's passes for 120 yards and two touchdowns.

Roman Ron White recovered another Gladiator fumble four plays later at the Gladiator 12-yard line.

An illegal procedure penalty put the Romans back to the 17-yard line. Kaz Uemura carried the ball to the eight-yard line, from where Christensen threw his fourth touchdown pass.

Jim Gustaves made a diving catch of the Christensen pass with three Gladiator defenders standing around him.

The second-half spurt put the Gladiators away, even though they did come back to score once more on a 10-yard pass from Jim Wirth to Gene Lindley.

Gladstone took the lead in the second quarter on a spectacular 72-yard punt return by Steve Lucero, who broke four tackles on the play.

Gladstone had another golden opportunity to score but the Roman defense proved too much for them.

The Gladiators had two chances from the one-yard line of Royal Oak, but were unable to capitalize. Calvin Dupleasis was stopped on the one-foot line on their first attempt.

On the crucial fourth down, the Roman front line completely stopped the Gladiator rush, knocking Dupleasis for a one-yard loss.

Rowland Raiders first in Montview

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

LA PUENTE — Tailback David Pearce scored on a 16-yard run with 11:53 left in the game to lead Rowland to a 14-12 win over Workman Friday night at Nogales High.

The win clinched a tie for the Montview League title. The Raiders can wrap up the crown next week when they visit the Vikings of Northview High.

Rowland deserves an award as the CIF Comeback Team of the Year. The Raiders, who were 1-6-2 last year, have posted a three-game winning streak to record a 5-1 mark in the ML and 6-2 overall, this year.

It was a heartbreaking defeat for the Lobos, who turned around a '72 record of 3-6, to post a 4-1 ML record and 5-2 overall prior to the game.

The contest was a head-to-head battle from the outset. When one team played outstanding defense, the other reciprocated. When a team drove offensively, the other returned the favor.

Trailing 12-7 midway through the third quarter, the Raiders marched 77 yards on 15 plays with Pearce scoring what turned out to be the winning score. Placekicker John Higham added his second extra point of the night to give Rowland a two-point cushion.

The teams exchanged punts early in the fourth period with Workman starting its best drive of the stanza. The march was halted when Lobo quarterback Marty Reitz' pass was intercepted by Bob Alkema and returned eight yards to the Workman 44.

The Raiders were unable to take advantage of the break.

The teams exchanged punts, Rowland getting the ball on its 38 with slightly over a minute to play in the game.

The Raiders appeared to have the game on ice having a third-and-nine at the 50 with 30 seconds left.

Quarterback Flavio Garcia then surprised the standing room-only crowd and head coach Gary Rawls as well. Instead of taking the snap and falling down, Garcia unloaded a pass that was picked off by Workman's Anthony Domasian who returned it 26 yards to the Raider 34 and 26 seconds left.

Reitz and the Lobos, with reknewed hope, were given another chance.

But the 5-4, 145 pound signal-caller threw four incomplete passes. His fourth down attempt was batted down by Rowland safety Gary Schwalbe in the end zone as the final gun sounded.

Workman took a 6-0 lead with 5:48 remaining in the half on a nine yard tackle-eligible touchdown pass from Reitz to Tom Bures. The extra point kick fell short.

Rowland took the ensuing kickoff and marched 64 yards on seven plays with Schwalbe taking a 42-yard TD pass from Garcia to cap the drive. Higham's PAT gave the Raiders a 7-6 lead with 3:34 left in the first half.

Schwalbe ended the game with six receptions for 130 yards while Garcia connected on 13 of 28 passes for 222 yards.

Workman drove 66 yards on 12 plays on its first possession of the second half with Reitz firing a 14-yard scoring pass to Ron Parvin for the score. The run for the two-point conversion failed.

Rowland then took the kickoff and scored the winning touchdown on Pearce's run. The junior running back ended the game with 94 yards on 25 carries.

The Raiders defense held Workman to 78 yards rushing and 146 passing, as Reitz completed 11 of 29 for 146 yards and had two intercepted.

Rowland rolled up 403 yards total offense but Lobo tackle Paul Lamphear was in on 17 tackles defensively and harrassed the Raider quarterback all evening with a superb pass rush.

Royal Oak cinches tie for crown

Chaffey stunned in upset

Chaffey High School ran into a stunning upset at San Gorgonio High Friday night. The Tigers had two touchdown passes nullified early in the first quarter and never regained their momentum as San Gorgonio rolled to a 31-7 victory.

In other games, Alta Loma romped over Ontario 43-6 in a Hacienda League game and Northview rolled over Nogales 26-7 in a Montview League contest.

Chaffey's loss to San Gorgonio enabled Redlands to clinch the Citrus Belt League championship as the Terriers walloped Pacific 33-0. Charter Oak's game at Baldwin Park was switched to tonight.

The Tigers marched to the Spartan 20-yard line early in the game. But on the third and fourth down plays, two Mike Scanlon to Harland Stark passes for apparent touchdowns were called back. On the first, Stark was ruled out of bounds when he caught the ball. On the second, officials called offensive pass interference. The plays were the 11th and 12th of the drive.

San Gorgonio then scored on a 25-yard field goal by Ken Wright and later in the quarter on Ray Johnson's 25-yard run.

The San Gorgonio touchdowns were all scored by different players.

The Spartans wound up with 313 yards total offense to Chaffey's 206. San Gorgonio rushed for 227 yards against the Tigers while Chaffey had 98.

Scanlon and Stark finally did connect for a touchdown play that was not called back in the fourth quarter after the Spartans had built up a 31-0 lead.

Scanlon was able to complete only three of 16 passes and had two intercepted, but the three with Stark's 62-yard touchdown reception, gained 108 yards.

San Gorgonio signal caller Jack Williams hit on two of nine passes for 86 yards and effectively balanced the Spartans' running game.

Chaffey is now 4-2 in CBL play and 6-3 overall. The Tigers host Ramona in the season's windup next week which will also be homecoming.

Jaimie Broecker scored five touchdowns to lead Alta Loma to its big win over Ontario. But Kula Kuresa was the big ground gainer for the Braves with a total of 175 yards.

After a scoreless first quarter, Broecker scored to give Alta Loma a 6-0 lead 1:34 into the second period. Two plays later Ontario tied it on a 60 yard pass from David Warren to Jim Donaldson.

But the Jaguars were unable to score anymore while the Braves rolled up 20 points in the third quarter and 17 in the fourth.

Alta Loma now is 3-3 in league play and Ontario is 1-5.

Northview built up a 20-0 lead before Nogales could get on the scoreboard. The Nobels' only touchdown was the result of a 49-yard pass play from Walt Stahl to Reggie Robinson.

Northview now is 4-2 in league play. Nogales is 1-4.

Reds trade Tolan for pitcher Kirby

CINCINNATI (UPI) —The Cincinnati Reds Friday traded discontented outfielder Bobby Tolan and pitcher Dave Tomlin to the San Diego Padres in exchange for pitcher Clay Kirby.

After a disappointing early season this year, Tolan became involved in a dispute with the Reds' management and was suspended late in the season.

The 27-year-old left-handed hitter was not included on the Reds' National League playoff roster and it became obvious the Reds were trying to trade him.

After helping the Reds to National League championships with batting averages of .316 and .283 in 1970 and 1972, Tolan hit only .206 this season.

Tolan sat out the entire 1971 season after twice tearing an Achilles tendon.

Tomlin, a 24-year-old left-handed relief pitcher, split the 1973 season between Cincinnati and the Indianapolis farm team. He had a 1-2 record in 16 games for the Reds.

Although Kirby only had an 8-18 record with San Diego this year, the Reds called him "one of the top young pitchers in the National League." Reds president Bob Howsam said he had been searching for a righthanded starting pitcher and said he was "confident Kirby can be a big winner for us."

Tolan said from his Los Angeles home he was "pleased" with the trade.

"I hope to be in the starting lineup with the Padres," Tolan said. "I don't think San Diego would trade for me to sit me on the bench."

As for his dispute with the Reds management, Tolan said, "It's all behind me now.

"I was having a bad year and I got into a little hassle with them," said Tolan. "I think the situation got blown out of porportion. Some people said I was a troublemaker.

"I'll tell you I'm not a troublemaker. I'm real pleased to be traded and I'm looking forward to playing with the Padres."

After his dispute with the Reds, Tolan became the team "loner." He sat by himself in the dugout and was criticized for not being enthusiastic and doing things like congratulating players who hit homers.

Tolan said he did not view the trade as Cincinnati "unloading" him.

"To me, when you get traded, that's all it is —just a trade," Tolan said. "I don't feel I'm going downhill. I'm just 27 years old. I feel I've got six or seven good years left in baseball."

Although the Padres are not assured of staying in San Diego, Tolan said he was "very happy to be traded to a California team."

"My home is in California and I feel very fortunate to be going with a California team. It's true the team could be moved out of California, but should the team move, of course I'll move with them."

While Reds officials had no comment on Tolan, both Howsam and manager Sparky Anderson were talkative about Kirby.

"We've been interested in Kirby for a long time," said Howsam. "We're happy to have him on our side. He's pitched very well against our club, as well as the other National League teams, and we're confident he can be a big winner for us."

Anderson said he was counting on Kirby being a "regular starter."

"Clay had some problems early this season but he was throwing real well after that," Anderson said. "Our scouts were really high on him.

"This kid is a real competitor. I'm counting on him being a regular starter for us. He wants the ball all the time. He wants to get out there and beat you. He believes he can win and he never seems to lose that feeling.

"I managed the kid two years in the minors," added Anderson, "and I'm sure he'll fit right in with our club."

Sir Dalrae 8-5 favorite at Hollypark

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)— American pacing champion Sir Dalrae, a converted trotter which rolled to 15 straight victories in the summer and the fall, was installed as the 8-5 morning line favorite for tonight's $110,100 American Pacing Classic at Hollywood Park.

Close behind in the tentative betting in the race for the richest prize in Western Harness history was Armbro Nesbit, which defeated Sir Dalrae last week in the Western Pace.

The tainted Sir Dalrae has lost some of his luster after being beaten twice in a row since being shipped to the West Coast from Chicago last month.

Armbro Nesbit was a close 2-1 choice on the morning line. Sharing the pick for third were Hunters Star, which has registered five two-minute miles this meeting, and Invincible Shadow, which finished second in the Western. They are listed at 6-1.

Also entered in the mile and one-eighth classic were Hal Brunt, Richard Brandt, Kentucky, Bye Bye Max, Breadwinner, Jefferson, El Patron, Royal Count and Intrepid.

Sports news in brief

BOB LEONARD, Indiana Pacers coach, has been handed the stiffest punishment in the history of the American Basketball Association, a two-day suspension and $1,000 fine. Leonard was ejected from a game Wednesday night after drawing three technical fouls.

FRANK MALONEY, assistant football coach at the Michigan, appears destined to be the new head coach at Syracuse after Penn's Harry Gamble withdrew from consideration. However, the university said no official announcement will be made until after the season ends Nov. 24.

JOE NAMATH has been listed as "extremely doubtful" for Sunday's game with the New England Patriots. Al Woodall, Nameth's understudy, is likely to get the starting nod. Nameth has been sidelined since the second game of the season with a separated shoulder.

TOM GORMAN, an upset winner over Stan Smith, and Jimmy Connors advanced to the semifinals of the Swedish Open Tennis Championships in Stockholm Friday. Gorman defeated Smith 7-6, 6-7, 6-4.

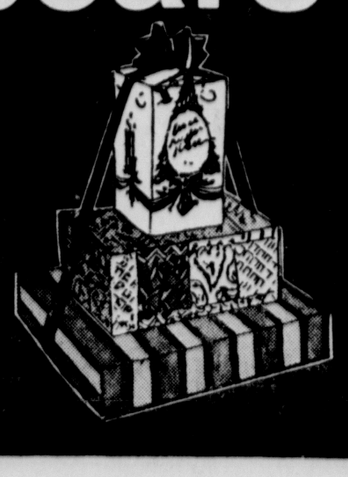

GEORGE FOREMAN, heavyweight boxing champion, has been ordered by the World Boxing Assocation to enter into serious negotiations for his next title defense against the leading available contender, Muhammad Ali.

THE 22ND RUNNING of the $150,000 Washington D. C. International at Laurel, Md. will feature nine horses from four countries with Tentam, a U. S. horse, favored to win today.

USC-Stanford game not just the typical college contest

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES — Will the USC-Stanford football rivalry begin today where it left off last year in Palo Alto?

If so, today's 1:30 p.m. contest at the Los Angeles Coliseum will be bitter.

But both coaches — USC's John McKay and Stanford's Jack Christiansen — claim the angry words spoken after last year's 30-12 Trojan victory are forgotten and they are good friends again.

Pacific-8

	Conference w	l	pf	pa	Overall w	l	t

Today's games
Stanford at USC, 1:30 p.m.
UCLA at Oregon, 1:50 p.m. (KABC, channel 7)
Washington St. at Oregon St., 1:30 p.m.
San Jose State at California, 1:30 p.m.
Idaho at Washington, 1:30 p.m.

No matter if there is hostility or not, the USC-Stanford rivalry has produced some exciting games in recent years as the two universities have battled for the Rose Bowl

Today's game should be no exception.

Stanford is the only Pacific-8 Conference team outside of USC and UCLA with a legitimate chance at the Rose Bowl. But the Cardinals must win today to remain in the running.

An USC victory plus an UCLA win at Oregon today would make it official: the Rose Bowl will be decided when the Trojans and Bruins clash in two weeks on Nov. 24.

USC is a heavy favorite in today's game which should attract 70,000 fans but the Trojans have had troubles all season beating the point spead. McKay is hoping last week's big 50-14 win over California is an indication his team has jelled.

McCay believes the 27-point spread is ridiculous.

"I don't understand it," McKay said. "We've had some real battles in the past few years. I think Stanford is one of the better defensive teams on the coast."

USC's big job today will be trying to stop the passing of senior quarterback Mike Boryla, who continues in the tradition of great passers of Stanford.

Boryla, who recently threw five touchdown passes against Washington State, has completed 105 of 189 passes, a .556 percentage, for 12 touchdowns and 149.1 yards per game.

"He's one of the greatest passers I've seen since I've been on the coast," McKay said. "There is no way to rush him successfully because he peels off so quickly."

Scott Laidlow is Stanford's top rusher with 405 yards.

Sophomore Ray Anderson of Bonita High fame will represent the Pomona Valley on Stanford's roster today. The former Bonita quarterback is used mainly on kickoff returns. He is averaging 20 yards a run.

McKay will continue to alternate his tailbacks with Bonita's Allen Carter seeing some action behind Anthony Davis and Rod McNeill.

After last year's win, McKay said, "I'd like to beat Stanford by 2,000 points. Why? Because they're the worst winners I've ever gone up against. They have no class."

But McKay made a peace gesture by speaking at a Stanford senior players' banquet after the season.

Did this gesture smooth the strained relations?

"The people I talked to aren't going to play Saturday," McKay answered.

Christiansen said his players won't have any problems getting up for the game.

"We don't need any posters in our locker room," the Stanford coach said.

Foreman needs TV to help him

HAYWARD, Calif. (UPI) — Heavyweight champion George Foreman said Friday he may have to defend his title on network television in order to keep alive financially.

"A lot of people would like to see me fight, but can't afford the closed circuit. I would like to get some home-TV fights," Foreman said from his office in Hayward.

The champion made it plain that he is hurting from inactivity, especially in the pocketbook.

"How can I make a living without any fights? You know I can't be financially satisfied," he said.

"I am the champion and am supposed to have a lot of contenders knocking at my door, but they aren't there.

"Promoters keep getting things in the paper, but I haven't met any of these promoters willing to back up what they are saying," he said.

"The Muhammed Ali people came in one day talking about a fight. They were supposed to come back, but they didn't. I read the next day they signed to fight with Joe Frazier. That leaves me without any Christmas money."

Foreman said he is not broke, but has many running expenses and hasn't yet received the $250,000 purse from his last fight because it is tied up in court litigation.

"I have to keep my home in Houston, here in California, and in Minneapolis where my baby is. I have to hire sparring partners and gyms.

"Certain people were talking about a fight with Oscar Bonavena. I got my sparring partners and got ready. The last minute they say they couldn't do it. That cost me $10,000."

Foreman said he does not expect any more than the normal 40 per cent cut on a fight that a champion gets on a fight. "With a bona fide corporation or promoter like Madison Square Garden I would fight strictly on percentage, with no guarantee except for training costs."

He said potential fights for network television would have to be with "quality opponents, who have the drawing power.

"I'm not getting any fights," he said. "Maybe if I wasn't champion I would be getting fights. I can't make money in any other business. My business is fighting and I am not getting fights."

Progress-Bulletin PREP PREVIEW

Claremont vs. Pomona at Citrus, 8 p.m.

Claremont can clinch at least a tie for its second San Antonio League championship in a row with a victory over the Red Devils tonight.

If the Wolfpack defense holds together like it has all season, the Devils may have a tough time staying in the race for the championship.

A Pomona loss would eliminate the Red Devils from the title picture, since they already have two losses to their credit.

If Devil quarterback Steve Taylor has the kind of game he had against Ganesha last week, then the Claremont defense should have its hands full.

Taylor completed 14 of 21 passes for 188 yards in that game, and now has 1143 in passing this year.

But the Wolfpack defense has only allowed an average of 5.2 points per SAL game defensively while scoring only an average of 16.9 an outing.

Pomona5s defense is second in the league, allowing only 9.9 per game while recording an average of 13 points per game offensively.

Kent Stalwick will quarterback the Wolfpack, with Joe Hillstock and Dean Erickson situated at the running back positions.

Behind Taylor for the Red Devils will be running backs Garry Honest and Jim Price, with the possibility of Raymond Butler coming off the injured list and seeing some action.

Taylor's top receivers are Jerome Holliman, Ron Haley, Tom Jones and Jim Middleton.

It should be a tight, low-scoring contest.

Walnut vs. Sierra Vista at Nogales, 8 p.m.

Second place is about all either of these teams can hope for, and even that is pretty remote, yet this could shape up to a very interesting Hacienda League battle.

The teams have the ability to score points and score them very quickly. Both schools have had trouble with spotty defensive play, which is of course why they hold identical 2-3 loop marks.

The Mustangs will once again rely heavily on the passing arm of Lance Parrish, who at times in 1973 has looked brilliant. Sierra Vista has not had one big offensive star but has put together a varied offense which should give Walnut a lot of headaches.

It should be an exciting battle, which in the final outcome may well be decided by which squad can avoid costly turnovers.

Ontario Christian at Lutheran, 1:30 p.m.

The Knights are coming off their second win of 1973, and should be aroused enough to give a more experienced Lutheran squad a battle.

Ontario Christian continues to get fine rushing performances from halfback Jim Van Hofwegan as the sputtering Knight attack is apparently about ready to explode.

Biggest problem for the Knights will be handling a Lutheran team with more depth and size. The Knights still are suffering from a lack of material rather than a lack of talent.

Webb at Big Bear, 1:30 p.m.

This shapes up as THE game for Coach Les Perry's Gauls, as both Webb and Big Bear head up the Arrowhead League standings with perfect 3-0 records.

Webb is looking for a real battle from Big Bear, which won the league title last year. The Gauls have been keying on defense this week, hoping to stop a highly effective Big Bear running attack spearheaded by fullback Vic Dobas.

Coach Perry's crew has been led by Mitch Avant and Gary Zakem on offense this season, while the Gaul defensive unit has allowed only 55 points in six outings.

The weather at Big Bear could be a major factor, and Webb is hoping for sunny skies today. This one should be a well-played, low-scoring contest as well as an emotional one with the league crown at stake.

College football roundup

Pitt ready for Notre Dame

By United Press International

On paper it figures to be a pretty grim afternoon for the University of Pittsburgh football team this Saturday, but according to coach Johnny Majors, his Panthers are going to have some fun against fifth-ranked and heavily favored Notre Dame.

"We're going to go out there and play with reckless abandon and have some fun," said Majors who in his first year as head coach at Pitt has guided his team to a surprising 5-2-1 record. However, the Panthers are a three touchdown underdog to the unbeaten 7-0 Irish.

"We're playing one of the finest teams in America but we've got to go out there and have some fun," said Majors. There's no sense for us to be up tight about it. We're going out there with confidence. I've never been in a game yet that I didn't think I could win.

"I don't believe in being overawed by an opponent," he said. "Anytime you take the field, you've got a chance to win. We'll have to play well and we'll need some things to fall our way."

Freshman tailback Tony Dorsett has been the Panthers' big threat this season, rushing for 1,139 yards to become the first player in Pitt's 84-year football history to gain 1,000 yards in a single season.

"Dorsett's statistics speak for themselves," said coach Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame. "He can turn the corners faster than anyone we've seen this year. Once he gets into open field he's gone."

Notre Dame has defeated Pittsburgh the past nine years and holds a commanding 26-11-1 lead in the series that dates back to 1909.

A capacity crowd of 56,600 is expected to pack Pitt Stadium to see if the Panthers can pull the big upset and insure their first winning season since 1963 and a possible bowl berth.

"We've come a long way, further than I anticipated," said Majors. "We're young and anything could happen. A win over Notre Dame would certainly be icing on the cake."

In other important games, No. 1 Ohio State is an off-the-board favorite against Michigan State, No. 3 Oklahoma is 14 over No. 10 Missouri, No. 4 Michigan is 24 over Illinois, No. 6 Penn State is 17 over North Carolina State, No. 8 UCLA is 17 over Oregon, and No. 9 Southern California is a slim favorite over Stanford.

No. 2 Alabama and No. 7 Louisiana State are both idle.

Walker leads Gardena Open

GARDENA, Calif. (UPI) — James Walker, Los Angeles, winner of the National Black Masters Tournament earlier this year, shot a six-underpar 65 Friday to take a one-stroke lead after the second round of the $12,500 Gardena Open.

Walker's 65 gave him a two-day total of 132 at the Western Avenue Course. Defending champion Bob Risch of Yorba Linda, Calif., was in at 133 after a second round 69, tied with Frank Snow and amateur Mark Pfeil, both of Los Angeles.

Two strokes back at 134 was Bill Wright of Carson, Frank Duce, Los Angeles; Dan Halldorson, Canada; and Tom Jackson, Dallas, all had 135s.

Pomona Dolphins ask community for help

POMONA — Pomona Pop Warner officials are asking the community to help to send the championship Pomona Dolphins to the Redwood Conference Bowl in Eureka on Nov. 24.

Coach Ben Munford's Dolphins are 8-0 for the season and will play for the Mt. Baldy Conference championship on Nov. 18 at Chaffey High's Graber Field.

Cost of transporting the Midget Divison by charter plan to Eureka is $1,800. Fund raising and donations have raised approximately $600 thus far but the team still needs more help from the community, especially since the majority of the boys on the team come from low income families.

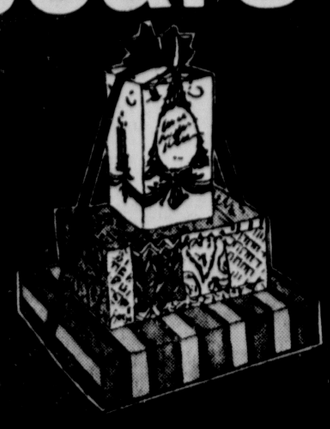

Additional information is available from Kenneth M. Brown of the Dolphin Booster Club at 622-2713.

Face Saints Sunday

Rams' lead on line

LOS ANGELES, California (UPI)—Able to score only one touchdown in losing its last two games, Los Angeles faces the refurbished New Orleans Saints Sunday in a game in which the Rams' lead in the NFC West is on the line.

A third consecutive Ram defeat and an Atlanta victory at Philadelphia would knot Los Angeles and the Falcons for first place in the division at 6-3.

In New Orleans, the Rams are meeting a team that has won four of its last five games to even its record at 4-4, the best mark ever by the Saints this late in a season.

However, the Saints haven't won a road game since beating Green Bay 29-21 on Thanksgiving Day in 1971.

New Orleans has surprised everybody under new coach John North, who took over for the fired J.D. Roberts after the club's fourth exhibition game.

Under first-year coach Chuck Knox, the Rams won their first six games. But they fell to Minnesota (10-9) and Atlanta (15-13) the last two weekends.

"The 6-0 record was a reality, not a dream," said defensive end Fred Dryer of the Rams. "All of a sudden we're making mistakes, turning the ball over, not attacking defensively the way we were."

"Football is a game of mistakes played by human beings, not robots," said Ram quarterback John Hadl. "If guys aren't concentrating, if they make mistakes, you're gonna get beat. It's as simple as that."

"There are two reasons why we haven't been scoring like we did earlier in the season," said Ken Meyer, Los Angeles' offensive coordinator. "First, we haven't been executing as well. And secondly, we've faced two of the better defensive teams in the league back to back in Minnesota and Atlanta."

'The Frustration Bowl'

Mounties try to avoid SCC cellar

By MIKE RAWLINSON
P-B Staff Writer

WALNUT — In a game that should be labeled the "Frustration Bowl," Mt. San Antonio and San Diego Mesa College fight to emerge from the South Coast Conference cellar tonight at Memorial Stadium.

A 7:30 p.m. kickoff is scheduled for MSAC's homecoming day contest.

Although the South Coast championship is out of reach, a lot of pride and a winning season will be riding on the outcome. Mesa is 3-4 overall. The Mounties are 4-3. Both are 0-3 in conference games.

"The loser of this one goes in the conference cellar and stays there," warned MSAC head coach Mal Eaton.

At the top of the standings, No. 1 ranked Fullerton, a 27-21 winner over the Mounties last weekend, will battle second place Santa Ana. Cerritos and Orange Coast square-off in the other conference game.

Mesa ranks as the No. 1 team in the South Coast in total team defense, and has outgained opponents 1472-1402 in total offensive yardage, and rushing yards, 915-815.

"Mesa is very aggressive and quick," Eaton pointed out. "They're much better than their record indicates."

That statement applies to the Mounties as well. MSAC has lost three South Coast games by a total of 15 points.

Mesa has scored only 21 points in its losses, including last week's 7-0 setback to Cerritos. Opponents have scored 50 points in three games.

In many respects this season has turned into a replay of 1972 for the Mounties, who won four in a row to begin the campaign and have now lost three straight.

A year ago MSAC got a 5-1 start and then lost four in a row. The losses have been much closer this year, but Eaton isn't any happier.

"I'm so frustrated I don't know what to do," Eaton said early this week.

Some top individual performances will be on display tonight as MSAC quarterback Steve Myer sets his sights on 1000 passing yards for the season. The talented sophomore is just 65 yards shy.

SCIAC's best do battle

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

The two best runners and the two top quarterbacks in the SCIAC will be on view this afternoon in games at Claremont-Mudd and Pomona-Pitzer.

At C-M, it'll be the Stags Mike Graber (623 yards in 132 carries) versus Redlands' Tim Streeter (729 yards in 178 carries). Pomona-Pitzer (0-3) will send Larry Cenotto, number one in passing and total offense against La Verne's (1-2) Marty Mercurio who is second in each.

Claremont-Mudd (2-1) Marty Mercurio who is second in each.

Claremont-Mudd (2-1) can move back into a first place tie with a win over Redlands (3-0) in the 1:30 p.m. contest.

Elsewhere, Whittier (2-1) is at Occidental (1-2). Independent Azusa Pacific (4-3) plays Loyola (1-5).

The C-M-Redlands game shapes up as ground attack vs. ground attack, but you never can tell.

Last week against La Verne, Redlands' new quarterback Steve Vento completed all eight pass attempts for 87 yards and the Bulldogs' only touchdown.

However, prior to that when he was backing up the injured Chuck Hiroto, Vento showed only six completions in 27 attempts.

The Stags have been unable to move the ball through the air with an consistency and when Oxy stopped the ground game last week, the Stags were a beaten team.

For the season, C-M signal-callers have completed only 29 of 101 attempts and are averaging only five completions per game.

The Stag defense, which had not allowed a touchdown by a run in 18 quarters of play going into the Oxy game, had given up a total of only 17 points in that span. But Oxy scored 14 points in one quarter and one of the TDs was by a run. Most embarrassing is the fact that the Tigers have been dead last in offense all season long.

In Redlands, John Zinda's squad faces the team that is rumber one in total offense. The Bulldogs are averaging 315.7 yards per game to the Stags' 238.2.

Tim Streeter, the conference's leading rusher, is abetted by fullback Don Alvarez. Streeter gained 109 yards against La Verne last week and Alvarez added 71.

Another threat is the field goal kicking of Don Damschen. Damschen has kicked seven field goals and 18 of 19 extra points. It was Damschen's four field goals that prevented Pomona-Pitzer from scoring a major upset Oct. 20.

At Pomona-Pitzer's Alumni Field, Roland Ortmayer sends a team ranking fourth in offense (261.7 yards per game) and fifth in defense (315.4 yards allowed) against the conference's second best offense (311.6 yards per game) and weakest defense (403.6 yards allowed). La Verne is 2-5 overall. Pomona-Pitzer is 1-5-1.

The Sagehens' Larry Cenotto leads the conference in both passing (102 of 206 completed for 1388 yards and nine touchdowns) and total offense (1436 yards total and 205.1 average per game).

Marty Mercurio of the Leopards is second in both categories. Mercurio has completed 68 of 184 passes for 963 yards and three touchdowns. He has 987 total yards this year for an average of 141 per game.

Both Mercurio and Cenotto have been intercepted 11 times.

In APC's game with Loyola, the Cougars are facing a team they have never beaten on the road, but anything other than a win would be a stunning upset. The Cougars need to win their last two games for a 6-3 record, best ever for the school which has had only one winning season, 5-4 in 1966.

Cal Poly will try to stay out of last

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

NORTHRIDGE — When Cal Poly and Cal State Northridge tangle at 1 p.m. today they'll have one thing in common — avoid finishing in last place in the California Collegiate Athletic Association.

The Broncos are 0-3 in league and 2-5-1 overall while the Matadors are 0-3 and 1-7 overall. A win by either club would keep them out of the celler in the CCAA.

"I'm sure it's a spot both teams are hoping to avoid," said Roy Anderson, Cal Poly head coach. "Both teams will be going all out in this one."

The Broncos, winless in their last five games, will open with Jim Zorn at quarterback. Greg Cruz and John Sedia will be the running backs.

Zorn, the No. 1 total offense leader in the country, currently has 2,285 yards on the season after completing 101 of 258 passes for 1,748 yards and 13 touchdowns. He has 537 yards on the ground on 124 rushes.

Cruz is coming off one of his finest performances of his three-year Bronco career after gaining 225 yards on 27 carries in the 35-34 loss to Chico State last week.

The fullback needs 361 yards in the final three games to break the school single-season rushing record of 891 yards set by Steve Alzugaray in 1968. Cruz has an eight-game rushing total of 530 yards.

Zorn's pass receiving targets are expected to be Joe Fabian, Ron Tatum and tight end Dave Stock.

Fabien leads the Broncos and the CCAA in receptions with 43 catches for 816 yards and five touchdowns. The flanker needs 39 more yards in catches to surpass the school mark of most yards gained receiving in a season.

John Gabriel set the mark in 1967 with 855 yards.

Expected to start on the offensive line are guards Jeff Buhr and Pat Jamison, tackles Steve Celotto and Vern Smith and center Steve Weiss.

The defense will be composed of tackles Joe Echeverria and Collin Bromley and ends Gary Bockman and Bill Embree.

Bockman is suffering from a knee injury and may not be able to play.

The linebackers will be Joe Diaz, Lonnie Mahi, Dave Chapman and Dave Hart. The secondary will be composed Paul Russell, Dennis Amador, Alan Wong and Rod Hiatt.

Northridge will counter with quarterback Don Gray and running backs Willie Hall and Ed Wilson. The starting receivers will be Mike Gunnels and Nery Watson.

Gray, the former Garey High and Mt. San Antonio College star, is second in the conference in total offense and passing. His combined rushing and passing stats give him 1,255 yards, behind Poly's Zorn.

Gray has rushed for 141 yards and passed for 1,114 yards completing 87 of 171 attempts for a 51 per cent average including 13 TD's.

Hall is eighth in the CCAA in rushing with 276 yards on 64 rushes and two touchdowns. Wilson has netted 228 yards on 53 carries.

Gunnels is second in the conference in receptions with 36 grabs for 470 yards and three scores. Watson has caught 6 passes for 444 yards and four scores.

Poly ranked third in the CCAA in offense with 357 yards per game while CSN is last averaging only 309 yards per game. Defensively the Broncs are fourth at 404 yards per game while the Matadors are last, allowing 407 yards.

S.D., RCC entertain Panthers, Owls today

Chaffey and Citrus colleges travel this afternoon and tonight for Mission Conference football games at San Diego and Riverside City Colleges.

The Panthers meet conference leading San Diego City in a 2 p.m. game, with the chance of scrambling the standings at the top end with a victory.

Chaffey will be seeking its first Mission win on the field, although the Panthers picked up a victory by forfeit from San Bernardino early in the year. In a non-conference contest, Chaffey beat the USC junior varsity, 21-14.

San Diego was beaten for the first time in conference play by Grossmont, 12-7, last week. The Knights lead the conference with a 6-1 record. A loss to Chaffey could result in a three-way tie for first place.

Citrus hopes to win its last two games to finish over the .500 mark for the campaign. The Owls are 3-3 in conference play and 4-4 overall. Citrus beat Southwestern a week ago, 30-8, while Riverside was up-ending Chaffey, 20-10.

The victory over Chaffey was Riverside's first victory of the year, although, the Tigers picked up a win by forfeit from San Bernardino, as did Chaffey.

Citrus tailback Doug Hopper, a freshman out of Monrovia High will try to run his rushing total for the season to more than 1,000 yards in the game. He has rushed for 937 yards in eight games to date.

If Hopper accomplishes the feat, it will mark the third year in a row that an Owl runner has rushed for a 1,000 or more yards.

Thanksgiving rites slated at 1st Baptist

Msgr. Barry is pastor of Our Lady of Assumption Catholic Church in Claremont.

The annual Thanksgiving celebration will be sponsored by the Pomona Valley Ministerial Association.

Ministers will coordinate the service. Special Thanksgiving music will be featured.

Dr. Edward Cole will be host pastor.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE — The Rev. Lorin Myers, left, and the Rev. Keith Korstjens, center, both members of the Pomona Valley Ministerial Association, discuss plans for the united Thanksgiving service with the Very Rev. Msgr. William Barry, speaker for the event.

Salvation Army chief is speaker

POMONA — Lt. Col. Eugene Rice, director of field operations for the Savation Army for the western territory, will speak at a 6:15 dinner tonight and at a service and a Musicial Festival Sunday at the Pomona Salvation Army Church.

He is responsible for the work of the Salvation Army in 13 western states. Mrs. Rice will accompany her husband on their visit to Pomona.

The Salvation Army leader will speak at the 11 a.m. worship service Sunday at the church and at a 2:45 p.m. musical festival.

Llinda Keller will be featured vocalist at the music festival. She recently appeared in the production of "Jesus People" which was presented in San Francisco during the western congress of the Salvation Army.

Adventists back off from action on ordaining women

The Seventh-day Adventist Church, during its world council in Washington D.C., took a close look at ordination of women to the ministry and backed off.

The council heard the findings of a committee which had been assigned to study the role of women in the church, but after considerable debate delegates were unable to arrive at a conclusion based on scriptural findings.

Vice President Neal C. Wilson pointed out, "There is no statement in the Bible or in the teachings of the church that says we should go out and find women who are qualified and ordain them as ministers. Neither is there any statement that says we should not."

The history of the church reveals it has had women serving as pastors infrequently but it has never ordained them. Even Ellen G. White, who through her prophetic gift gave the church direction in its formative years, was not granted ordination by the General Conference.

Wilsen said that the matter of ordination was studied by the church as long ago as 1882. At that time the council referred the question to the General Conference Committee for further study, but records reveal no further action.

Several church officials spoke strongly against the ordination of women in any capacity, pointing out that in some areas of the world this would be totaliy unacceptable, as in the Middle East. Others expressed the opinion that women's place was in the home. Wilson, however, pointed out that a large proportion of women today are not married and are devoted to careers rather than the business of raising children and maintaining a home.

Wilson added that "Furthermore, today families are smaller and when the children are grown, a woman still has many years she can use in service to the church if she so chooses."

Although there were seven or eight women on the 350-member council, none spoke to the question.

The council moved to request the divisions to give study to the matter and share their findings and recommendations with the General Conference headquarters in time for reconsideration at the annual council in 1974.

The question is a pertinent one for the Adventists, because the church does have women who are filling the role of pastors. In Finland two women evangelists have brought more than 1,000 people into the church and have raised up a number of church congregations, but because they are not ordained they cannot baptize those whom they have won to Christ.

Baptist delegations to attend parley

Delegates from the First Baptist Church in Claremont and the First Baptist Church in Pomona will attend the sessions of the American Baptist Churches in the Pacific Southeast Wednesday through Saturday in Palm Springs.

The meetings will be held at the Riviera Hotel Convention Center there.

Delegates will speak for the local congregations at the business sessions Friday and Saturday morning as well as share the fellowship of the other sessions.

Dr. Carl F. H. Henry, theologian and author, and Dr. Gustavo Parajon, medical doctor from Managua, Nicaragua, will be the key speakers for the four-day convention.

Dr. Henry presently teaches at Eastern Baptist Theological Seminiary in Philadelphia. He is the founding editor of Christianity Today.

Dr. Parajon, who is associate director and staff internist at the Baptist Hospital in Managua, will report on the mission work in his country especially since the devasting earthquake. He has directed all Protestant relief efforts in his home country.

Delegates will share in the fiesta celebrating the 50th anniversary of Hispanic ministries in the regional convention. Dr. Joe Arreguin will be the principal speaker for that event.

Mrs. Jasper Teague is president of the regional group that represents 333 congregations and more than 116,000 members from Arizona, Baja California, Southern California and Hawaii. She will report to the group Thursday night.

The Rev. William Thurmond, pastor of Sunnyside Baptist Church of Los Angeles will be the daily morning devotional speaker. He is seond vice-president of the group.

The convention will celebrate the Lord's Supper Friday night in a joint session led by Dr. A. George Downing, executive minister of the churches.

Youth Day sessions on Saturday will include interest groups to be held at Angels Stadium in the morning, the fiesta in the afternoon and will climax with a musical "Celebration" under the direction of Bob Shepherd.

Two pastors in pulpit exchange

LA VERNE — The pastors of the La Verne Heights Presbyterian Church and the Ramona Avenue Christian Church will participate in a pulpit exchange Sunday.

The Rev. Michael Oden, minister of the Ramona Avenue Christian Church, will speak at the 9:30 a.m. worship service for the La Verne Heights congregation.

His topic will be "Touch Me Again.'

The Rev. John R. Springer, minister of the La Verne Heights Presbyterian Church, will discuss "The Art of Moving Mountains" at the 10 a.m. service at the Christian church.

The congregation of the La Verne Heights Church held services at the Christian church for two years prior to the construction of the church buildings at 1040 Base Line Road.

Superintendent guest

SAN DIMAS — The Rev. Robert Weiraach, district superintendent for this area for the United Methodist Church, will be the guest speaker Sunday at 11 a.m. at the San Dimas United Methodist Church.

The superintendent will be honored guest at a luncheon after the service. Church officers will give annual reports after the meal.

No more ticker tape for New York parades

NEW YORK (UPI) — Now that the traditional stock ticker has been replaced by faster electronic devices in the Wall Street office, there is an acute shortage of ticker tape for New York's fabled salute to the nation's heros.

When the next ticker tape parade comes around, office workers undoubtedly will make do with shredded business machine cards, newspapers and torn telephone directories, says Doremus & Co., of the financial community.

Claremont receives 'discouraging' report

CLAREMONT — The Claremont school board has accepted at $5,000 70-page marketability study of the district's Miramar site from Coldwell Banker Management Corp., and as a result of the study, rescinded the district's agreement with Coldwell Banker and Co. for professional marketing services.

The board had authorized agreements with the two firms in May this year.

District business manager Charles Abbott called the study "discouraging" and said that the management firm had cited the site's distance from existing developments, its zoning restrictions, and the fact there is no sewer line through the area.

The Miramar site is on the north side of Miramar Avenue, between Bonnie Brae and Mills avenues, and the district had anticipated selling it.

The board vote on both matters was 4-0 with board member Arthur L. Steffen abstaining.

In other actions, the board has done the following:

—Accepted from Prisoners of Smog a set of yellow pennants with red trimming for each of the district schools to fly during a smog alert. The board has adopted temporarily a .27 ozone level for calling a district alert, but the district is continuing to gather data on air contaminants to show that the district's smog conditions are more like those of Upland than of Pomona where Claremont gets its readings.

A subcommittee headed by Dr. Margaret Hodder is studying the possibility of a two-stage alert. Mrs. Martha Brundage, speaking for Prisoners of Smog, said that the Riverside School District schools fly the pennants throughout the day of an alert to make persons aware that an alert had been called.

Porno assault may rule out baby bottoms

NEW BALTIMORE, Mich. (UPI) —Baby powder advertisements may be illegal in this town under an new anti-pornography law that classifies bare buttocks as offensive.

"I believe some of these ads show bare baby bottoms," said Police Chief Edward A. Reim. Playboy and other such magazines already have been removed from drugstores, supermarkets, bookshops and other businesses, and nude calenders may go next. The penalty for selling such matter is a maximum jail term of 90 days and maximum fines of $500.

"People here don't like that stuff," said Mayor Herman Staffhorst.

BANK EXPANDING — Tri-City Welding Co. of Bloomington installs steel framework for $534,000 expansion and modernization project at Claremont branch of Bank of America, Yale Avenue and Fourth Street. Martin J. Jaska Inc. of Pomona, the prime contractor, has scheduled completion of the expansion in February, 1974. Manager Howard Laverty forecasts that with the project the bank will have one of the most modern designed and equipped offices of its size in the bank's statewide system.

Goal for finish of bank expansion is February

CLAREMONT — February has been set as the target for the completion of a two-story rear addition for the Bank of America at 339 Yale Ave.

Contractor for the $534,000 project is Martin J. Jaska Inc. of Pomona.

The expansion and modernization will increase office space more than half to 13,548 square feet.

Also planned is installation of two new walk-up deposit windows in the proposed addtion, two television-operated drive-through teller units behind the building and development of an expanded customer parking area next to the current lot.

Manager Howard Laverty said that with the larger building the bank will expand its teller line, lobby and customer reception areas, loan officers department and escrow department.

In addition, existing teller lines and other fixtures will be replaced with contemporary-design facilities. All new floor-to-ceiling wallcoverings, decor items, carpeting and draperies will be installed.

"In effect," said Laverty, "what we are getting here is more than a mere remodeling. It will be, rather, an almost completely new building and bank office."

Laverty said that the expansion is necessary to keep pace with the continuing growth of Claremont and to provide customers with the most efficient and convenient service.

Claremont police service jumps 53%

CLAREMONT — Police Chief Charles Lines has reported that his force did a brisk business during the first quarter of 1973-74 and experienced a 53 per cent increase in calls for service over July, August and September of last year.

Lines said that the department in 1972-73 experienced its greatest year in terms of numbers of calls for service from the general public.

The chief reported that the department either by telephone, complaints over the counter, or by officers observing incidents, received 3,613 calls for service in the quarter, as against 2,360 for a similar period in 1972.

Lines explained that the calls for service didn't include traffic citations issued, which during July August, and September totaled, 3238, up from 2,550 over a three-month period last year.

Lines said that 2,580 calls for service were handled "in the field".

Officers handed out 1,078 tickets for moving violations, down from 1,211 during July, August and September of 1972.

Parking violations topped the 2,000 mark.

Nineteen persons were injured in 16 accidents. In 30 other mishaps no one was injured.

The city extended its safety record without a traffic fatality since December, 1970, through the quarter.

However on Oct. 25 a 16-year-old motorcyclist died of injuries suffered in an Oct. 10 collision with a car.

In accicents for the quarter, four drivers were found to have been drinking, and speed was determined the cause of three accidents.

Police investigated three cases of forcible rape and four robberies. No such incidents were reported during the first three months of the 1972-73 fiscal year.

Assaults totaled 19, and burglaries 86, although Lines noted they are less than one burglary every 24 hours.

KATMANDU, Nepal (UPI) — The girls are going after Mount Everest, the world's tallest peak, which has bowed to men only six times.

Shark-calling expert looks for forumla to repel them

MIAMI (UPI) —A marine scientist at the University of Miami says he might be on the track of the solution to a life-or-death problem that has plagued man ever since he went to sea —what to do about marauding, man-eating sharks.

Dr. Arthur A. Myrberg, who can call sharks to his side almost with the ease of a duckhunter calling a flock of mallards, said he is looking for a way to reverse the process.

Myrberg and other scientists at the University of Miami Rosenstiel School of Marine and Atmospheric Science have proved that certain low sound frequencies broadcast underwater will bring sharks hurtling toward the loudspeaker. He now is looking for a sound formula that will repel the predator.

"We hope that within the next year we might have something quite interesting on the subject," Myrberg said.

"If we can cause their approach, maybe we can bring about withdrawal," he said. "With certain species we have had certain successes already. We hope that within the next few years, there will be some very big breakthrough," he added.

Research by Myrberg and many others throughout the country over the last decade for the Office of Naval Research resulted in a sure fire way of attracting sharks, which apparently mistake the pulsing sounds in the range below that of a piano for vibrations of a fish "in distress."

Myrberg said one byproduct of his research was the discovery that, to some degree, sound made by hovering helicopters could attract sharks to the scene of a rescue operation.

"This should be tested to determine whether, in a rescue at sea by any agency, perhaps they should move in and come down very rapidly," he said.

"They should not bring the helicopter down to 18 to 30 feet and sit and have a cup of coffee if there's still someone in the water. I'll tell you, I'd hate to be that person."

Myrberg said now that scientists can attract sharks, there have been many suggestions that the sounds be used to draw the fish away from a beach or other area. But he said that can result in a lot more trouble than anybody bargained for.

Since sound goes out over 360 degrees, sharks will be attracted from all directions, bringing many of them much closer to the beach area than they were before. And when the sound goes off, or the fish discover they are being tricked as they eventually do, there is no telling which direction they will go.

The eventual result could be a doubling of the shark population at the very site that was meant for protection.

"We must be certain what were doing," Myrberg said.

He maintains that the shark is among the worthiest adversaries in the animal kingdom and is far from the unpredictable throwback to prehistoric times he is most often pictured as being.

"The only reason a shark can be called unpredictable is that we just don't know very much about him yet. With more study and more knowledge he will be more predicatable."

Some cars exempt from smog device

By JOHN BALZAR

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Owners of many souped up, factory built "hot rods" and zippy foreign sports cars are exempt from the state's latest anti-pollution requirements, which will cost five million other California motorists up to $35 apiece.

Most drivers who own 1966 to 1970 model cars will, within the coming year, have to install new devices to control nitrogen oxide emissions under recently approved state Air Resources Board regulations. By law, the bolt-on devices cannot cost more than $35 installed.

But excluded from the new requirements are a variety of large displacement, Detroit cars with such high-performance options as multiple carburetors, fuel injection, turbochargers and ram induction.

Also exempt are various popular sports car models from abroad, which are likewise outfitted with high performance equipment.

Basis for exemption

"The basis for exemption is simple," explains John A. Maga, executive officer for the Air Resources Board. "If the device works on the vehicle it's required to be on; if it doesn't work on the vehicle then it's exempt."

Fortunately for performance minded drivers, who bitterly complain of drains imposed by pollution control equipment, none of the six state-authorized "Nox" devices work on their type of car.

Engineers for the state say some of the devices could be reworked to accommodate performance engines but would mean a cost higher than the legislative-imposed ceiling of $35. Thus, there was no choice but to exempt them.

They also say that cars built for high performance frequently work more efficiently and emit less pollution to begin with.

Also exempt are most 1970 General Motors cars, autos that burn liquified natural gas, many pickups three-quarter ton or larger and a number of imported Datsuns, Saabs and Subarus.

Because of the technical nature of the exemption requirements, all motorists, except those with pickups over 6,000 pounds gross, will need to have their vehicles inspected and granted an exemption sticker or pay to have the devices installed.

Exactly when depends on where they live, the last digit of their license number and whether or not the car changes ownership.

Starts in southland

Starting last month in the populous and smoggy regions of San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego, installation was required on 1966-70 cars registered for the first time in California or those being registered to new owners. Beginning Jan. 1, the requirement will be expanded statewide.

Additionally, cars with the last digits of their license plates either a "1" or "2" will have until the end of February to be equipped, regardless of whether they change hands. The number "3" will have March, and so forth on a number-by-month basis until the deadline for the digit "0" in October. The deadline for personalized plates also is October.

Enforcement will be handled by the California Highway Patrol at random inspections. Motorists caught more than a month beyond their deadline face immediate fines of $50. Repeat violators face fines up to $250.

Installation of the devices or certificates of exemption can be obtained only from state certified "Class A" repair shops or service stations.

The aim of the program is to cut at least 42 per cent of nitrogen oxide emissions, a principle ingredient in California's characteristic photochemical smog.

Treasure hunt ends up in red

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) —Two Denver, Colo., men came looking for $2 billion in lost treasure, but wound up more than $1,000 in the red.

Arthur D. Neblett, 30, and Robert F. Mikel, about 40, arrived about two weeks ago in search for the legendary "treasure of the Guadalupe," supposedly left by Jesuit priests in the Tumacacori Mountains near here 400 years ago.

Their equipment cost them more than $1,000 and the U.S. Forest Service fined them $90 for building an illegal campfire and failing to obtain a treasure hunting permit.

Former mayor pleads guilty in bribe case

Former City of Commerce Mayor Maurice Quigley pleaded guilty Monday to a charge of soliciting a bribe and will be sentenced Dec. 11.

Quigley, 66, now a councilman of the City of Commerce and former Commerce City administrator Laurence O'Rourke, 54, were indicted by the county grand jury last July 2 on charges of conspiracy, bribery and solicitation of a bribe.

O'Rourke, who pleaded guilty to the solicitation charge, is scheduled to be sentenced Dec. 4. He admitted to Superior Court Judge David N. Fitts that he had solicited a $300 monthly allowance for Quigley from a refrigeration contractor in return for city contracts.

Recovery for plane crash survivor is agony of pain

BOSTON (UPI) —For three months, Leopold Chouinard has been waging a private, silent fight against pain and sometimes agony.

Chouinard, 20, an Air Force sergeant from Marshfield, Vt., was the only survivor of the 89 persons aboard a Delta DC9 jetliner that crashed July 31 at Logan Airport. Eighty per cent of his body was covered with third degree burns and both of his legs were amputated. His condition still is listed as critical.

Spokesmen for Massachusetts General Hospital said Chouinard has had a number of things going for him, including his own courage and will to live. Throughout his ordeal, he has had:

—Unwavering loyalty from his fiance, Brenda Newton, 19; who said after the accident: "I love him, I can take care of him forever." She visits her fiancee regularly. The visits are private, and she has declined to discuss Chouinard's case with newsmen.

—The day-to-day loyalty of his parents, who also shield Miss Newton from public attention.

—The exceptional treatment facilities of the Massachusetts General Hospital burn center.

— is own willpower which has enabled him to endure torturously slow treatment, including skin grafts.

A hospital spokesman described Chouinard's adjustment as "remarkable."

For the first several weeks of his treatment, the former Air Force chaplain's aide had to lie on his back as skin grafting began. Because so little skin could be grafted, layers of skin were separated and then harvested again to cover the most critically burned areas.

Doctors said skin also was stretched in the grafting process to make it possible to cover as much of the surface as possible.

Throughout the process, Chouinard has remained cheerful and cooperative, hospital aides said.

Progress is being made in grafting, despite the ever present danger of infection.

Doctors now are grafting skin on his back. Instead of lying always on his back, he now has changed positions to assure the minimum of discomfort.

It will take, one source says, another two months or more to complete the grafting of skin to his back.

If that succeeds, hospital officials are hopeful Chouinard can be removed finally from the critical list.

Island pigeon mail service for the birds

APPLEDOR, England (UPI) —The Rev. Donald PeytonJones was concerned about the spiritual isolation of 35 members of his congregation living on phoneless Lunday Island 24 miles out in the storm lashed Bristol Channel.

There was no way the Lundy Islanders could get news back to the Devonshire mainland for publication in the parish magazine until PeytonJones introduced his carrier pigeon service.

So far he has conducted four experimental flights. Bird No. 1 arrived with a message from his wife: birds No.2 and No.3 both arrived safely from the island but lost their messages en route, and bird No.4, faced with rough weather, was found four days later still on Lundy sheltering behind some rocks.

Angry drivers rate highest in fatalities

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Belligerent, overactive drivers with negative attitudes are more likely to get killed in automobile accidents, two Baltimore researchers say. Dr. Chester W. Schmidt Jr. and Dr. John W. Shaffer presented that conclusion Tuesday to the American Public Health Association after a study of 50 fatal accidents. (Case histories showed the driver-victims were "significantly more belligerent, verbally expansive, negative and hyperactive" with high ratings on a "social obstreperousness" scale, the paper noted.

Of the accidents, 76 per cent involved a single car.

Most of the driver victims had been speeding and 78 per cent had measurable levels of alcohol in their blood.

What's your reason for not buying a home NOW?

TROUBLED OVER HIGH INTEREST RATES

It is true interest rates have risen, but they do seem to have stabilized in the past several months. And while the rates may seem high, they are not climbing as rapidly as are labor and material costs. An increase or a decrease of ½ percent in interest rates only amounts to 30c per month per $1000 on a 25 year loan. Is it really wise to deny yourself the security, pleasure and pride of home ownership on the vague hope of interest rates going down, thus saving you only $3 or $4 a month? The value of your home will increase at a much faster rate than can be gained by any lowering of interest rates. NOW is a good time to buy!

WONDER WHERE TO BEGIN LOOKING?

Worry no more . . . most folks have found that the best place to shop for that new or lived-in home is in the Classified Real Estate columns of the Progress-Bulletin. It's here (and only here) that each day you'll find the very latest offerings of homes 'for sale' . . . advertised by the area's leading real estate firms and builders. Check the want ads today—and every day—to find the home that satisfies all your needs.

YES NOW IS A GOOD TIME

Inner City to present 'Pushkin'

LOS ANGELES — Actor H. Fitch Jr. will present "Pushkin," a one-man play on the life of the great Russian poet, at the Inner City Cultural Center at 8 p.m. Nov. 27-Dec. 2.

Fitch brings to the stage one of the most creative and controversial characters of the 19th Century. The show captures the excitement and adventure of Pushkin's short, drama-filled life through his letters, his diary and his poems.

Pushkin is one of the greatest Russian poets. His letters are considered prose masterpieces of the broadest range, embracing politics, literary matters, friendships and Russian history.

Inner City Cultural Center is at 1308 S. New Hampshire Ave. Ticket information can be obtained at (213) 387-8289.

Traffic fatalities rise

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) —In 1972 there was discouraging reversal of the downward trend in traffic fatalities of 1970 and 1971. Last year, more than 55,700 persons died in traffic mishaps, according to the Traveler's Insurance Co.

Folksinger to perform at Bridges

CLAREMONT — Folksinger-composer Arlo Guthrie will perform at Bridges Auditorium of the Claremont Colleges next Saturday at 8:15 p.m.

Son of songwriter Woody Guthrie, he won national attention with the song and movie, "Alice's Restaurant." He has played professionally since 1966 on college campuses and folk clubs throughout the United States and in England.

Guthrie has also performed at the Newport and Woodstock festivals.

Tickets are available at Ticketron, Mutual and Liberty agencies, and at Bridges Auditorium. Information or reservations can be obtained at 626-4523.

At the Music Center

New Kraft piano concerto to have world premiere

LOS ANGELES — Zubin Mehta and the Los Angeles Philharmonic will present the world premiere of a recently completed piano concerto by William Kraft, co-principal timpanist of the orchestra, in the Pavilion of the Los Angeles Music Center at 8:30 p.m. Nov. 21 and at 10:30 a.m. Nov. 23.

Mona Golabek, soloist, is a young Los Angeles pianist who, as a winner of the Ford Foundation's Young Artists Award in 1972, commissioned Kraft to write the concerto.

Kraft has been a member of the orchestra's percussion section since 1955. From 1969 to 1972 he acted as its assistant conductor. He is composer of nearly 100 works which have been performed by many major orchestras, including the Los Angeles Philharmonic, Boston Symphony, Houston Symphony and New York Philharmonic.

Many of Kraft's works have been heard outside the United States. His Concerto for Four Percussion Soloists and Orchestra was premiered by Mehta and the Los Angeles Philharmonic in 1966, and after that was played by the orchestra on its world tour in Philharmonic's recording of this work was named one of the best recordings of 1969 by Irving Kolodin in Saturday Review. The record also includes Kraft's "Contextures: Riots — Decade '60," which was commissioned by Mehta and the Southern California Symphony-Hollywood Bowl Association, and received three nominations for the 1970 Pulitzer Prize in Music.

The "Intelsat" communication satellites, launched into space 22,300 miles above the earth's surface, enable us to see on our TV sets anything that goes on in the world as it is happening. These satellites are launched to hover over one location and are, in effect, like a tower 22,300 miles high!
Imagine a tennis ball to be earth, then imagine a "satellite" to be located about three diameters from the ball. You can see how signals can be "bounced" from any satellite to other points halfway around the world, and how three satellites over the equator can reach any populated point on earth.

It Happened in Pomona

By Doc Peirsol

Whatever happened . . .

Whatever happened to good old So and So or Such and Such? — As time passes many of us find ourselves asking those questions with ever increasing frequency. And so today, just for the record, let's ask that question once again. Whatever happened to the Pomona Lime and Cement Company?

Once it was a thriving local institution incorporated by home town people and located near the Salt Lake Railroad tracks in the vicinity of Spadra. And on Oct. 2, 1904, the Pomona Daily Review went to some lengths to report what an asset it was to this area.

"The firm's business has rapidly increased during the past few months," the article read. "Now that the worth of the company's lime product has been demonstrated in many Los Angeles buildings, it is no effort to find buyers for all the lime the company can send to market. The company has been at work for weeks uncovering the ledge of lime rock to make sure that it will have enough raw material to burn into lime for months to come. At an expense of several thousand dollars, it has laid bare sufficient rock to insure a large quarry, and new plans are being perfected for the construction of a second kiln alongside the present one."

And then came the sentence that without a doubt explains the reason for the phenomenal success the Pomona Lime and Cement Company was enjoying. — Perhaps it even explains the reason for the company's demise.

"Thus," the story concluded, "the lime output will be doubled and the bill for labor will be scarcely increased."

Apparently, even in those good old days, the battle of capital versus labor was already well under way.

Author outlines rule by populace

The auhor is professor of political science at the New School for Social Research in New York. Over the years, he has edited and written numerous volumes that deal with aspects of democracy.

In this book, he brings together all the documents that had a direct bearing upon the democraic process as it emerged and prgressed through the ages.

Those who have some trepidation about the state of democracy in America will find that this book provides reassurances for their faith in its power to endure. Researchers of the subject will discover here a prime source of material dealing with democracy already gathered and codified. It's a great subject, and this book does yeoman justice to it.

Holland sees prices rise

THE HAGUE, (UPI) — Prices in Holland rose by an average of more than 5 per cent in the first eight months of 1973. By summer the price index for family consumption stood at 130.1, compared to the 1969 index of 100.

Short lead's better to restrain big dog

By Dr. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: We're being given Sandow, a boxer-Great Dane mix. His present owners just moved into an apartment and he did, too, but the results have been disastrous. They are giving us all of his dishes and his bed which is about the same size as ours, but he has eaten both of his leashes. Tha's the question. We'll have to exercise him on a leash for safety's sake. Feeling that the longer the leash he has the more exercise he will have, we wonder how long a leash is practical.—G.S.

Dear G.S.: Unless Sandow's smaller, punier and better trained than indicated, you had better start out with a very short leash. The advantage of a traffic lead, ultra short, little more than handle is that it minimizes leverage and pulling power. If he behaves well on such a short leash, you can experiment with various lengths of rope until you find what appears to be the most suitable length for both of you. The longer the lead, the more leverage Sandow has and, conversely, the less you have. If, for example, you supply him with 20 feet of rope and he goes from your side to the end of that at top speed, odds are against him stopping when he hits the end of it.

If he is really intent on continued forward progress, more than likely you would simply be bouncng along some 20 feet behind him, presumably and snap, for such a big dog still clinging to the other end. If Sandow isn't trained at all it will be a matter of self preservation for you to school him with all possible speed so you can control him. Otherwise, his outings are likely to be too much for anyone (but him).

DEAR DR. MILLER: I saw a turtle shell that was too big to believe. I think it was a fake. How big do turtles ever get? —T.H.

Dear T.H.: Currently, top turtle size wuld undeoubtedly go the marine leatherback who may weigh 1,500 pounds (or more, depending on when he ate). He can better nine feet in length. Looking back a little — actually, about 80,000,000 years —his prehistoric marine relative Archelon ischyros, was slipping about in the shallow seas then present over South Dakota and Kansas. He reached 11½ feet in length and a weight of two to three tons. If this one were still around, it would be a real challenge for searchers of a super exotic aquarium pet.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Slugger is hooked. And I mean, really, on brewer's yeast tablets. She gobbles down two a day and would go for more if I would let her. She seems the better for it. Appetite and all. Will too many yeast tablets hurt a cat? —M.E.

Dear M.E.: Too many yeast tablets, be it two for one cat or 20 for another, would cause varying degrees of indigestion, as, diarrhea and so on. Ten tables just might be the right number for Slugger, though. The B-complex they contain makes them a useful feline food supplement.

2 books offer samplings of young 'today' writers

By SAMUEL I. BELLMAN

IN YOUTH. Edited by Richard Kostelanetz. Ballantine Walden Paperbacks. $1.95.

SEEING THROUGH SHUCK. Edited by Richard Kostelanetz. Ballantine Walden Paperbacks. $1.65.

Richard Kostelanetz is a young New York journalist who for years has been editing collections by the "today" writers, particularly the young-nger and the quite-young writers in all areas of literature.

Creating his own ambience of youthful penmen and penwomen who are supposedly reshaping the world, Kostelanetz is a kind of self-fulfilling prophet, demonstrating with each succeeding anthology that this is indeed "no country for old men."

"In Youth" offers creative writing; "Seeing Through Shuck" offers "muckraking for the 1970s." The experimental stories, poems, and graphics in the former book (many of them reprinted from other publications) do not by any means justify Kostelanetz's strident, near-hysterical complaint that "The young are probably the most neglected sociological category in North American writing today, as they are less organized and collectively less powerful than" the other minorities.

For one thing, much of their writing is just that—writing, pencilling—if Kostelanetz's collection is any indication.

For another, they can, and certainly do, blend in with all the other minorities to get their work printed and publicized.

Perhaps Kostelanetz's footlight histrionics about the plight of the poor disadvantaged "young" writers in his own unique contribution to Youth art: a combination spoof of radical liberation-movement propaganda, and a modern updating of that old elocution classic, "The Boy Stood on the Burning Deck."

One of the more provocative pieces in "In Youth" is a familiar science-fiction story. "The Heat Death of the Universe," by P. A. Zoline, which deals with a day in the life of an ordinary woman, during which time the universe runs out of energy; entropy approaches a maximum, and the bottom drops out of everything.

Frank Chin, well known by this time for his inside fictions about San Francisco's Chinatown, is represented here by "Yes, Young Daddy," a vignette of the strained affections cementing and dividing a rebellious Chinatown youth and his girl cousin.

Eugene Wildman, in "Ball" (excerpted from his "book", Montezuma's Ball) gives us a quick wrapup of Mexican tourist culture: Montezuma kicks off an Aztec ballgame which shades into the heaviness of Mexican life today.

Many of the "poetry" pieces reflect the movement called concretism (picture tricks instead of serious straightforward writing), and computer printouts (another Kostelanetz hangup) also come in for considerable attention. Violence, social disorganization, radical dislocation — these are the themes of the experimental writers in this collection of youthful "now" writing.

In one way the selections in "Seeing Through Schuck" are more solid and substantial, less gimmicky and self-indulgent. They deal with political realities and the real or imagined hypocrisy ("shuck") in American life today.

One need not expect too much debunking of commercial abuses, but the conventional (and by now safe) targets and subjects come in for their accustomed share of outraged exposure.

Chin and Jeffery P. Chan, in "Racist Love," direct an angry explanation of the Chinese-American view of this society at the kill-with-kindness establishmentarians who persist in stereotyping Americans of Chinese origin.

Ishmael Reed, the hoodoo writer, criticizes all institutional forces and representatives who won't let him be himself, in "catechism of a neoamerican hoodoo church." Actually, he has long capitalized on his ability to be himself, but he is a lively, zany writer with some talent.

"Das Hip Kapital," a long essay by Craig Karpel, exposes the predators of hip and youth culture, those fleecers we shall always have with us.

An architectural complaint about faulty design and inadequate space utilization, "Why Users Are Losers," by Stephen A. Kurtz, is only one of many other genuinely stimulating pieces.

New tour book presents Mexico

MENLO PARK (UPI) — If you decide on a trip to Mexico, you probably will not make a 35,000 mile one that takes two years.

But that is the kind of trip the editors and photographers of Sunset Books took to produce Lane Magazine and Book Company's newest pictorial.

The book called "Mexico," sells for $9.95 for the rest of 1973 and then goes up to $11.75.

"Mexico" covers both the lush and the desert, the civilized and the primitive in the large, immensely varied country that is our neighbor to the south.

The pictorial includes more than 300 photographs, including 40 in full color.

Novel pits man against inner self

By J.F. FULBECK

THE GREAT CANADIAN NOVEL by Harry J. Boyle. Doubleday, $6.95.

In the Mexican town of San Miguel de Allende, a long way south of Canada, we meet the central figure of this novel.

At 50, an apostate from the vocation (advertising) which has rewarded him with high income and prestige, he struggles to find new values in a new mode of life.

J.F. Fulbeck is professor of comparative literature at Cal Poly University, Pomona.

The obstacles are mainly internal. Can he overcome his addiction to alcohol? Can he excise from his memory the frustrations of half a century? If not, can he exploit them in a positive way and release them in novel form: Can he produce that novel that has grown in him like a foetus from the days of his Canadian youth?

In telling his story, Boyle leans heavily on the flashback technique. His basic situation — the successful man who finds his success hollow and makes a belated effort to do something of value — is a venerable literary convention.

There is much in this novel that is "stock," but there are also elements in it that the reader may find rewarding.

Bawdy treatment displeases critic

By SIDNEY CONE

BRENNAN'S BOOK by Garrett Anderson, Putnam $7.95.

This is a story about the life and death of an Irish playwright.

The major portion of the book describes the outragous language and conduct of Eamonn O'Connor who rose from obscurity to fame in a few short years. Aspersions or insinuations that every character in the story is a sexual deviate occupy much of the book.

The parade of bawdy words tells a story but the reader is left with two questions. Why would anyone write a book like this and why would anyone want to read it?

Every year is 'vintage'

Story by Ed Prather

While the citrus orchards that once greened the Pomona Valley have fallen victim to the urban sprawl of Southern California, another of the area's historic agricultural industries continues to thrive.

Out of the vineyards of the West End will come more than 8,000,000 gallons of wine this year, in scores of varieties from mellow table wines to grape brandies.

"We're holding our own," said Joseph Filippi of the J. Filippi Vintage Co. Winery. He admits, however, that urban encroachment may eventually make real estate values too high to continue the life of the vineyards, although the wineries could continue operation by bringing in grapes from other areas.

Brookside Winery in Guasti is by far the largest of the more than dozen wineries that operate in what is called the Cucamonga District. Brookside will itself produce close to five million gallons of wine this year.

Regardless of size, however, the wineries have been an integral part of the valley's economy since before California was a state.

Thomes Vineyards, located on Foothill Boulevard at Vineyard Avenue in Cucamonga, has been producing wines since the 1840s. Originally started by Don Tibucio Tapia, the Spanish landgrant holder of the Cucamonga Rancho, the winery is today the oldest in the state in terms of continuous operation.

The start of the California wine story goes back even further, however. Nearly all of the 21 Spanish missions established in California had, by the 1770s, cultivated their own small vineyards and were producing wine for sacramental purposes.

In the two centuries since, little has changed. The weather, recognized by Spanish as ideal for grape maturation, remains.

(The weather is so ideal that the overworked term "vintage year," used in Europe to designate those years when the grapes reach full maturity, is not applicable in California since the grapes reach maturity every year.)

Also remaining basically unchanged is the wine-making process itself. The grapes are harvested by hand in the local vineyard each year during September and October.

Taken by truck to the winery, explained Filippi, the grapes are tested for sugar content, which translates into eventual alochol content for the wine.

"Certain wines have desired alcohol levels. By measuring the sugar content we know what to expect and can later add alcohol to the wine if necessary," he said.

(In Europe and many states in the United States, wineries simply add sugar before the fermentation process begins. This is prohibited by California state law to protect the grape growers.)

Immediately after arriving at the winery, the grapes are sent through a mechanical crusher, separating juice from stems, skins and seeds. The crusher is so thorough that what remains, called "pomace," resembles moist purple sawdust. Being a totally natural product with no waste, this wine pomace is returned to the land as fertilizer.

The juice is then put into large vats where the fermentation process begins.

In fermentation, the natural grape sugar reacts with wine yeast (which occurs naturally in the grape, but is also added by the winemaker) to form equal parts of wine alcohol and carbon dioxide gas. The gas causes the wine to bubble constantly throughout the fermentation process.

"Depending on the type of wine, fermentation lasts anywhere from days to weeks," said Filippi.

Complete fermentation converts all the sugar to alcohol, but this process is halted before completion for wines where some sweetness is desired.

During fermentation, which is now done by most of the local wineries in stainless steel or cement vats, heat control is the most important single factor. If allowed to become overheated, the fermentation will yield vinegar, rather than wine.

Next the wine goes into aging casks and tanks. During the aging process, which may take months or even years, depending on the type and quality of the wine, sediment in the wine settles to the bottom of the tank and is periodically removed from the wine.

During this period, said Filippi, the wine must also be kept cool to prevent spoilage.

Aging produces the wine's clarity, its smoothness and mellowness. Subtle chemical changes in the wine during aging account for the distinctive flavor and aroma found in a particular wine of a particular year.

Aging is not completed at the winery. In reality it is probably never completed, since wine is the only beverage that continues to age in the bottle.

For this reason, storage of wine is always to be made in a cool location in the home.

While the basics are the same for all, the various wines under the local labels of Filippi, Thomas, Brookside, Heublein, Mandala, Opici, Sunland, San Antonio and others, have their separate, distinctive qualities endowed by each winemaker's time-honored traditions and formulas.

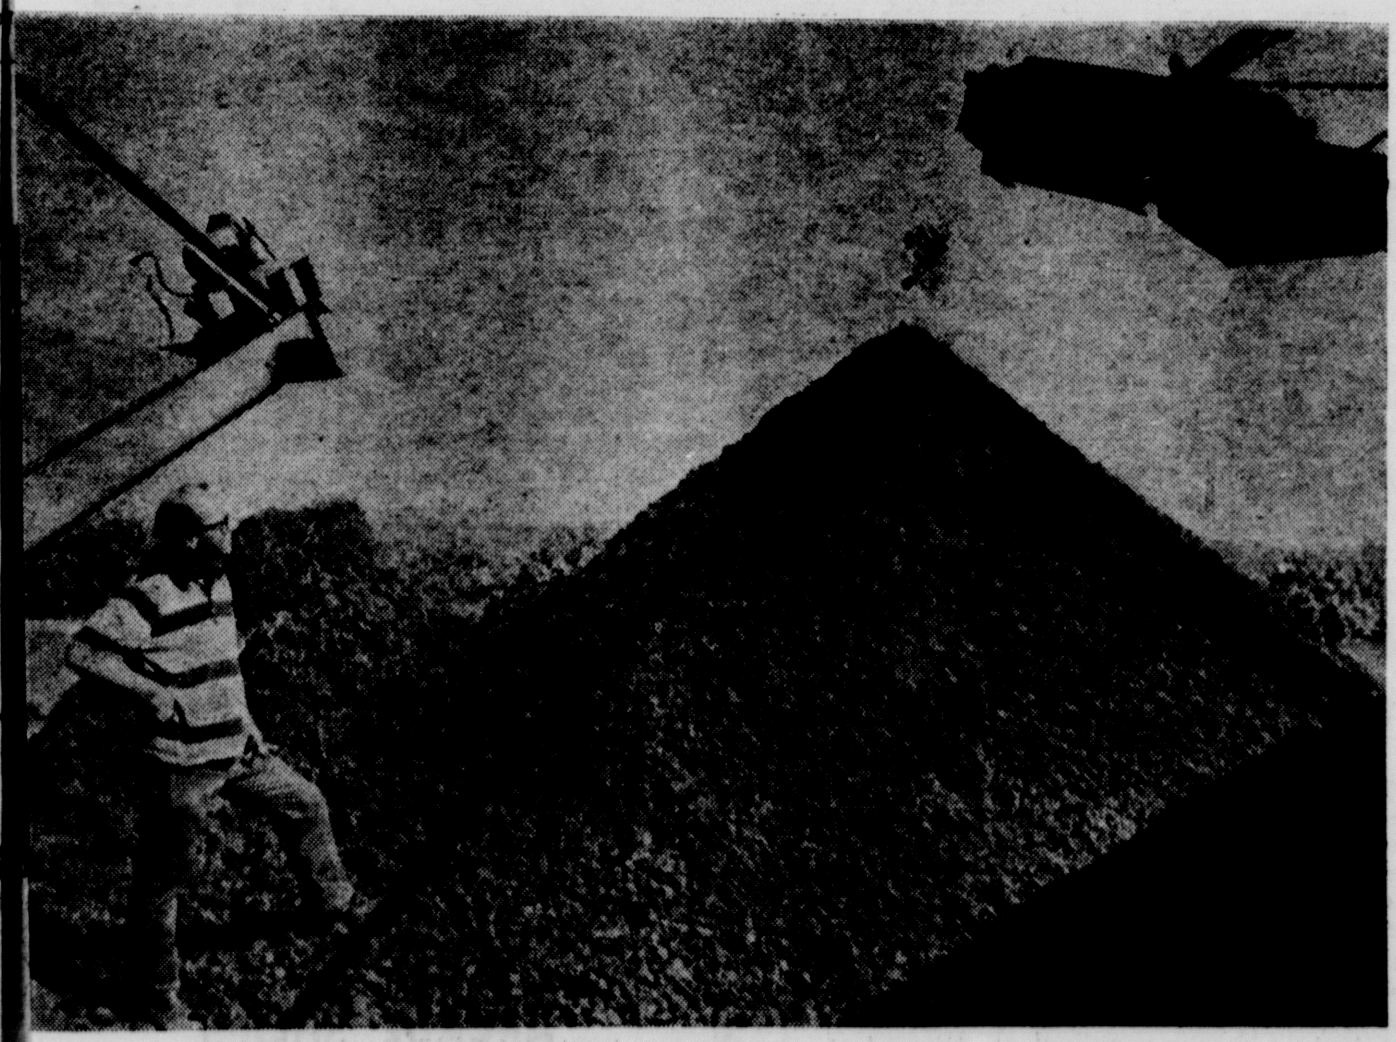

Together they provide an almost endless variety of Burgundy, Vin Rose, Chablis, Zinfandel, Chianti, Sauterne, Grenache, Muscat, Port, Muscatel, Sherry, Vermouth, and sparkling wines.

The success of their art is seen in the growing demand for California wines in general. Per capita consumption in California is now over two gallons annually and shows no signs of leveling off.

"It seems that in the last few years everyone is discovering wine again," said Filippi. "It's very satisfying to produce something that is appreciated like the wine."

Bill Nix of Thomas Vineyards samples one of the wines from the winery's aging cellar. The large cask at the left is more than 130 years old and was brought to California from Europe by ship around Cape Horn.

A pile of wine pomace, standing about 10 feet high, is all that remains of about 100 tons of grapes after crushing at Filippi Winery in Fontana.

Exchange teacher

German at Pomona

By KEN SWART
Pomona High

"I'm very glad I'm here; I will learn a lot of different things. I hope I can make use of some of the good ideas in Germany."

Manfred Schwamborn, Pomona High School's exchange-teacher for the 1973-74 school term, is so very much at ease here in America that it's difficult to tell that he's a German native. The only thing that gives him away is his accent, which is not thickly German but only faintly foreign in nature.

Under the Fulbright Program, a foreign-exchange teacher program, Gerald Algozer, former PHS German teacher, and German-born Schwamborn switched countries and jobs. "I'm here as a Fulbright exchange teacher," Schwamborn explains. "Algozer and I exchanged our apartments and our cars. The program, as I understand it, is part of the Health, Education and Welfare Department. They arranged everything for us."

It is surprising to realize that neither Schwamborn nor Algozer had any idea where they would be going when they applied to the Fulbright program. "We both simply applied to the program and were 'matched' up in Washington probably."

PCH girls, dads dance

By MARY SANCHEZ
Pomona Catholic

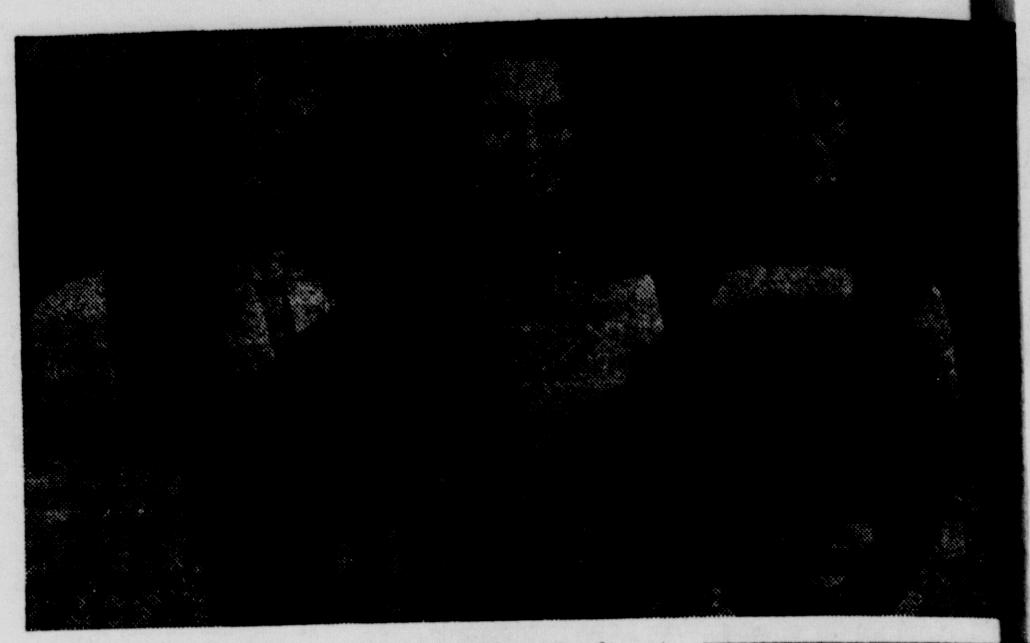

The Associated Student Body of Pomona Catholic will host the sixth annual father-daughter dance this evening.

The dance, which is always anxiously awaited by the girls, will take place at the St. Joseph multipurpose auditorium from 8-11 p.m.

The bids for the dance cost $5 with a poem that explains the feelings of each girl:

Father,
Someone who will take my hand,
Then one day will let go.
For he has taught me right from wrong
And this I'll always show.

The girls that are going will never forget tonight and will always treasure it as very special.

Pupils earn extra money

Students at Simons Junior High School in Pomona through next Wednesday, are conducting a magazine subscription drive.

Each student participating in the drive is carrying an identifying packet.

Administrators said the drive is not intended to compete with local magazine dealers, but rather to keep some of the subscription money in Pomona.

The school will get 40 percent of all monies collected. This money will be used to finance student activities such as field trips, incentive articles for the classroom and special recreational activities.

Students will sell new subscriptions and also take renewals.

11th homecoming at OCHS is fun for all

By ROBERT JACOBS
Ontario Christian

"Fairy tales can come true" provided the theme for Ontario Christian High School's 11th homecoming celebration held Friday, Nov. 2.

The seniors took first place in the float competition with a recreation of "The Wizard of Oz," followed by the sophomores with "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs", the juniors with "Hansel and Gretel," and the freshmen with "Cinderella."

At half-time of the Knights' rousing 16-6 victory over Bellarmine-Jefferson, student body president Tony Weeda announced that Patty Niezen had been elected homecoming queen for 1973.

Her court included Bev Douma, senior princess; Leslie Van Den Berg, junior princess; Rosanne Irwin, sophomore; and freshman Carolyn De Graaf.

Queen Patty, a 5 foot 6, blue-eyed blond, is the daughter of Gerald and Gertrude Niezen of Corona. She was escorted to the game by Don Heida. She is, among her many other school activities, a spirited member of the pep, drama, and archaeology clubs.

Senior princess Bev, daughter of Henry and Alice Douma of Ontario, is 5 foot 4 with blonde hair and blue eyes. She was escorted by Larry Kamper. She takes an interest in sports and is an active member of the girls basketball and volleyball teams.

Junior princess Leslie, daughter of Marvin and Joyce Van Den Berg of Chino, was escorted by Ron Voorthuysen. Sophomore princess Rosanne, daughter of Larry and Connie Irwin of Pomona, was attended by Nick Hilvers. Greg De Vries escorted freshman princess Carolyn, daughter of Gerrit and Anna Mae De Graaf of Corona.

Three-legged race

Many events at Garey

By LUANNE HARDCASTLE
Garey High Reporter

"Day By Day" was this year's homecoming theme for Garey High School. During homecoming week, Nov. 5 through Nov. 9, many activities were held on and off the Garey campus. Included in these was the choosing of the court and the crowing of the 1973-74 homecoming queen.

On Tuesday, Nov. 6, two competition games were held involving teachers and students. A three-legged race started off the week's festivities with two students from each Garey club competing. After the race, a tug-of-war between students and teachers attracted quite an audience. A large mud puddle was formed and it served as the consequence for the unlucky team.

Wednesday brought another day of exciting events beginning with a tricycle race. A maximum of three contestants from each club were able to enter. Ending Wednesday's activities was a pie-throwing contest. Students finally received their chance to get back at teachers. Whipped cream pies were furnished for students to take aim at their favorite teacher.

Alumni honored

Thursday brought along the most exciting, active, and happy day for the members of Garey High. At 10 a.m. in the Garey gymnasium, a rally was held in honor of all alumni students. The varsity football team was seated in a certain section while alumni cheerleaders, songleaders, flag twirlers, and the present rally group cheered for them.

The introduction of the homecoming court also took place during the rally. At 11:30 a.m. an alumni tea was held in the Garey library. Old Garey members enjoyed remembrances of past times while munching cookies and drinking tea.

Noon activities began with the dunking of Garey's principal, Theodore A. Tynes and vice-principal, Frank P. Richards. Tynes and Richards were seated on a platform above the barrel of water. As students threw balls and hit a target spot, the platform opened and dropped the two washed-up faculty members into the barrel of water.

The second event on Thursday was a pie eating contest. Students were given five min to eat as many pies as possible. The final contest during lunch was a gunnysack race.

Homecoming court

The five girls chosen for the 1973-74 homecoming court were Melonie Banks, Cathy Canfield, Valerie Cardoza, Valerie Carrassco, and Gloria De LosRios. Gloria was chosen queen.

At Chino, it's room 14

By ELLEN GONZALEZ
Chino High Reporter

The room is filled with some funky, if a bit tattered, furniture. The walls are covered partly by posters, and around the clock someone has painted a bright orange sun.

In the middle of the room is a ping-pong table. Are you standing in the middle of some freaky rumpus room? The local soul shop? Try looking in room 14 on the Chino High School campus.

The Chino High administration has taken a step forward this year in student communication by setting aside a place, room 14, where students can come to discuss their problems with a special counselor, eat lunch, or just play pinp-pong.

The room was the idea of SPA (Students for Positive Action), an organization formed after last year's riot at CHS.

Visit Two Libraries During Children's Book Week!

Poster created by Margot Zemach for the 1973 Children's Book Week, sponsored by The Children's Book Council, Inc., 175 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y.

The Book Council is made up of publishers and other people interested in better books for children.

The National Library

Let's celebrate Children's Book Week by visiting the library that holds the world's largest collection of children's as well as adult books, the Library of Congress in Washington, D.C.

The Library of Congress collection is huge, because since 1870, publishers have had to deposit two copies of each book printed if they want it copyrighted. That means they register the book so no one can print the same thing without their permission. Even before 1870, writers sent their books to the Library.

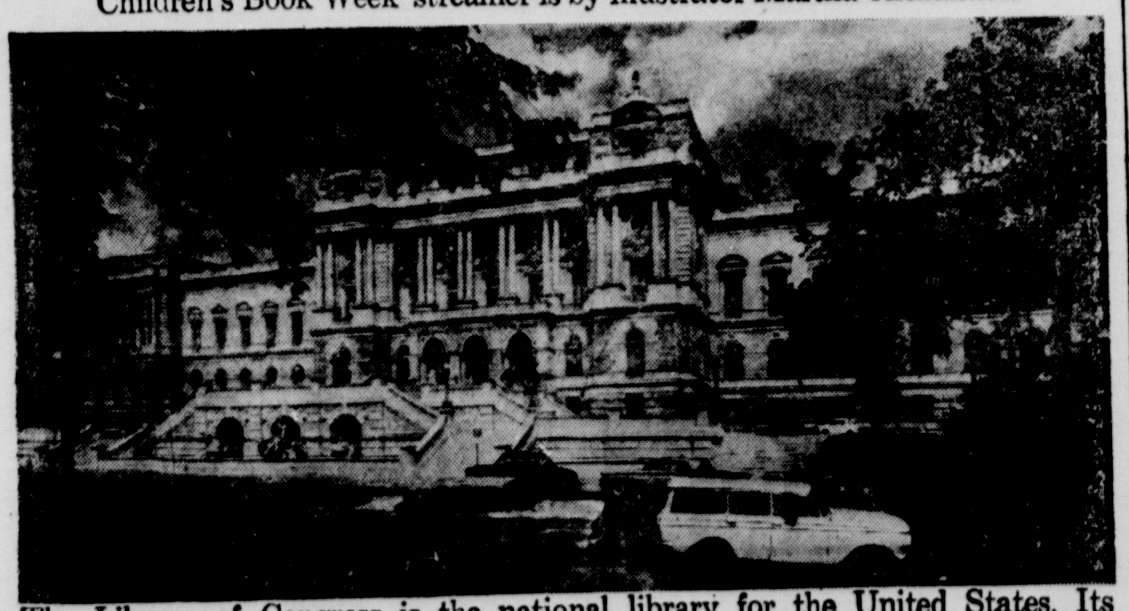

The Library's collection has some 100,000 children's books in addition to thousands of magazines, periodicals and pamphlets. Children's films and records are stored in a special section.

It also has a good collection of old and rare children's books.

Children's books in foreign languages are included. The Library takes part in a book exchange program with other countries.

Children's Book Week streamer is by illustrator Martha Alexander.

The Library of Congress is the national library for the United States. Its main purpose is to do research work for the members of Congress. It shares its collection with the public for research purposes and houses both the adult and children's collections.

Your School Library

The average price of a children's book today is $4.37. With prices so high, libraries where you can borrow books are even more important.

The books in your school library were probably paid for by state, local and federal funds. Federal funds are those raised by the U. S. government in Washington from the federal taxes people pay.

There has been a sudden "cutback" in the amount of money the federal government is giving libraries. A "cutback" means that the amount of money has been cut down or cut out.

Due to the cutback and the fact that libraries didn't know exactly how much money to expect from federal funds, there will probably be fewer new books on your school library shelf. There will be fewer new film strips and other audio visual materials. Public libraries have also had to reduce the amount of money they spend on salaries, so there will be fewer services offered.

Congratulations Karen Keefer, you're a Reddi-Wip® Winner!

Meet Virginia Haviland of the Library of Congress

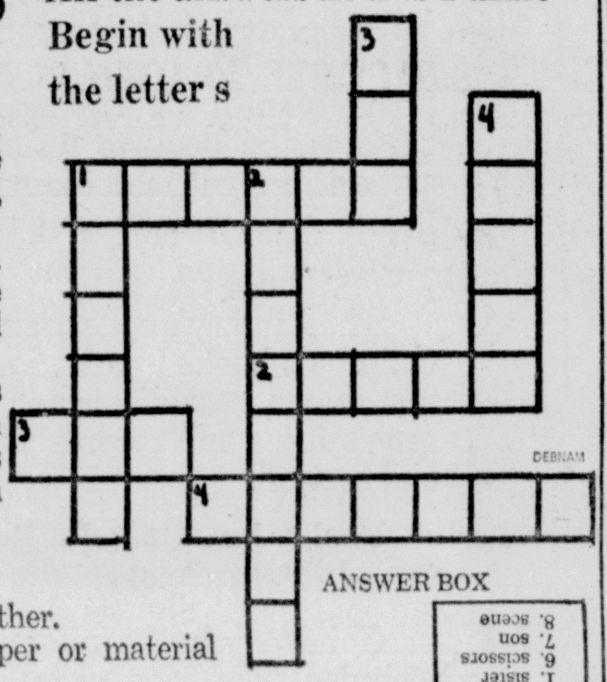

Miss Virginia Haviland has been the head of the Children's Book Section since it was started in 1963. She has many jobs. She arranges for exhibitions and helps write catalogues and guides. With the help of her staff and other experts, she makes out special bibliographies (lists of suggested books) on certain subjects of interest to children and children's librarians. Just recently, the Children's Book Section has published a booklet about good children's books written about the Revolutionary Period.

Each year, Miss Haviland also helps make a list of the 200 children's books that experts consider to be the most outstanding published during the year.

If your teacher would like a list of publications put out by the Children's Section, ask her to send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Children's Section, Library of Congress, Washington, D.C., 20540.

A book report on the Caldecott Winner

"The Funny Little Woman," illustrated by Blair Lent and retold by Arlene Mosel, published by E. P. Dutton, is the 1973 Caldecott book.

Below is a book report by Cheryl Smith, a second grader from Raleigh, N.C. "One day, the funny little Japanese woman was making nice dumplings. A dumpling rolled into a hole. The hole started getting bigger. The woman fell through. The wicked oni (strange looking creatures) found her. They gave her a magic paddle to cook rice dumplings for them. One day the funny little woman ran home with the magic paddle. She made rice dumplings and sold them. She became the richest woman in Japan.

Blair Lent, the author, won the 1973 Caldecott medal for this book. This medal is awarded to the outstanding American illustrator of a children's book.

"The pictures are colorful and pretty. I liked the story and the pictures."

A book report on the Newbery Award Winner

"Julie of the Wolves," by Jean George, published by Harper and Row, is the 1973 Newbery Award book.

Here is a review by fifth-grader Cynthia Smith of Raleigh, N.C.

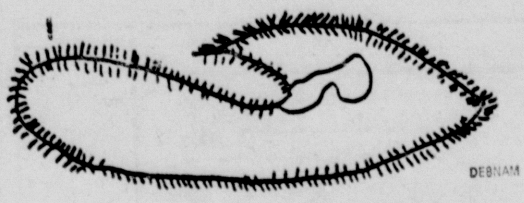

"A 13-year old girl named Julie was lost in the Arctic Tundra. She was running away to San Francisco where her pen pal, Amy Pollock, lived. Julie learned to use her wits and her instincts. She learned to live with the wolves that helped her get food and survive.

The book was sad in parts, especially when she recalled her parents dying. The many facts about Alaska, the Eskimos and how she prepared for her journey to San Francisco were interesting."

Jean George, the author, won the 1973 Newbery medal awarded yearly to the most outstanding children's author. Newbery books are for children from the fifth grade up. Both awards are presented by the Children's Services Division of the American Library Association.

Animal of the Week:™

The Paramecium

The paramecium is so small that it can be seen only under a microscope. A full grown paramecium is about 1,250th of an inch long. Its body is transparent and it is shaped something like a shoe. It lives in still water that is around 80 degrees. The paramecium eats other one-celled organisms such as algae and bacteria. It has short hairs surrounding its body and uses these hairs to make a current in the water and sweep food into its "mouth." New animals are usually produced from one parent. The parent cell simply divides in two. Because it is such a simple animal, it is often studied in biology classes.

Mini Do:™ Crayon Etching

What you'll need:

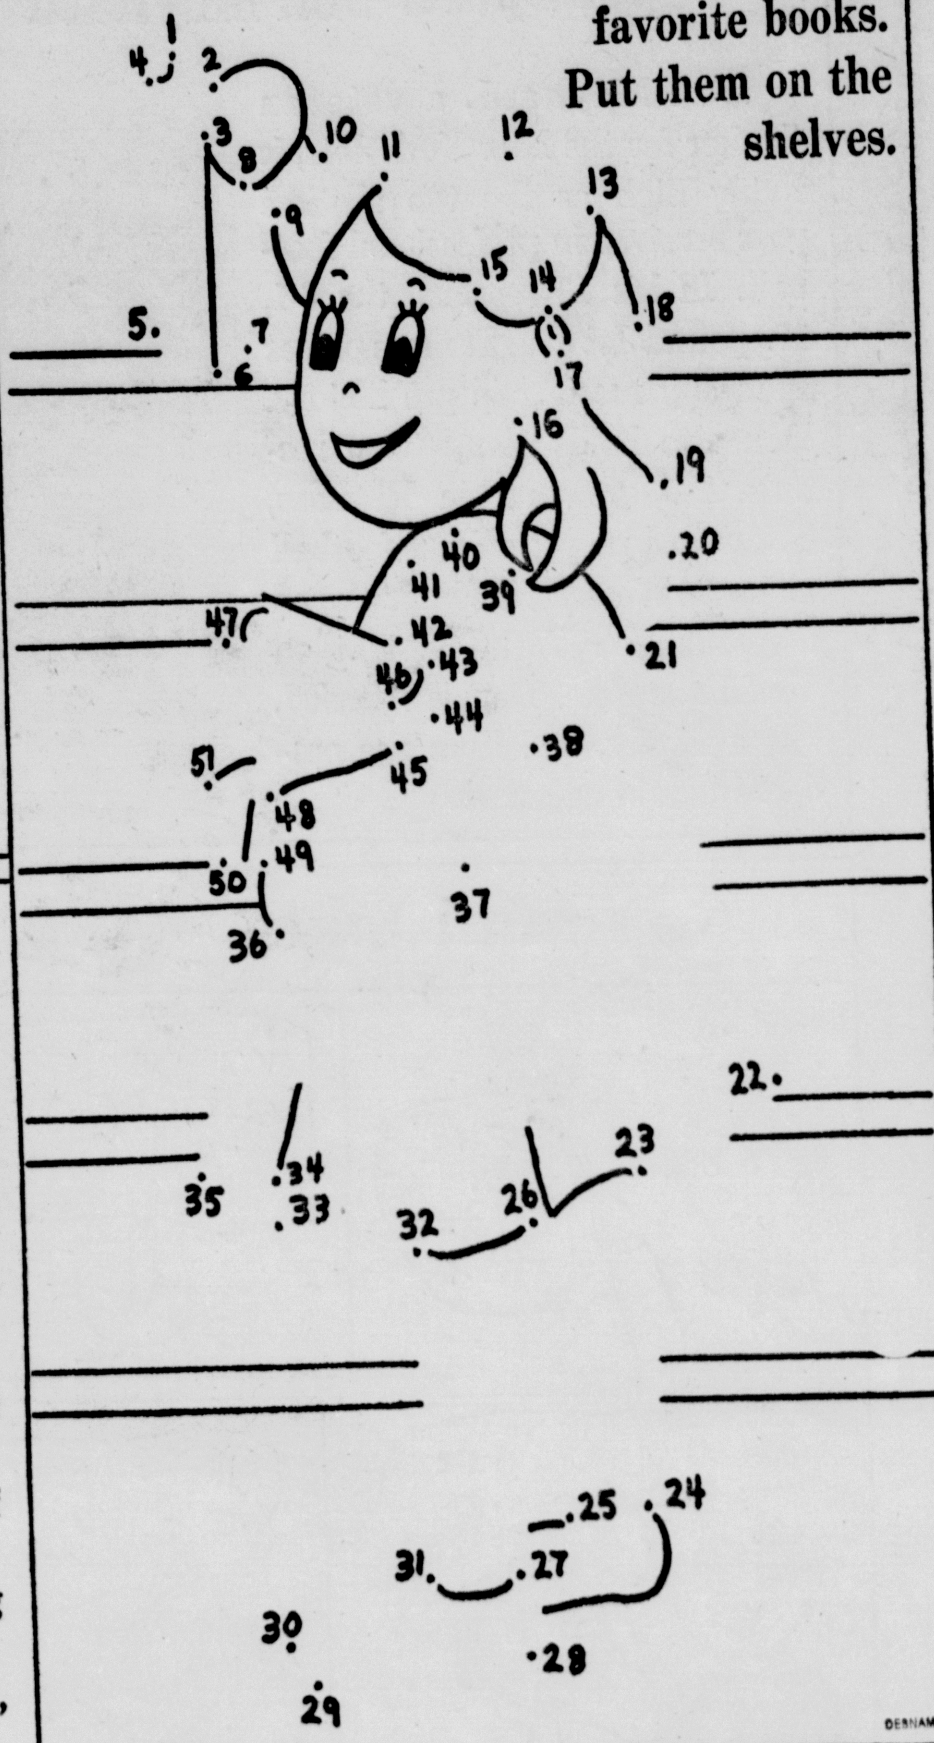

- scissors with a point, or a big nail
- squares of poster or shirt board or cardboard
- newspaper to spread out on your desk or table
- crayons (old ones that are peeled are good)

What to do:

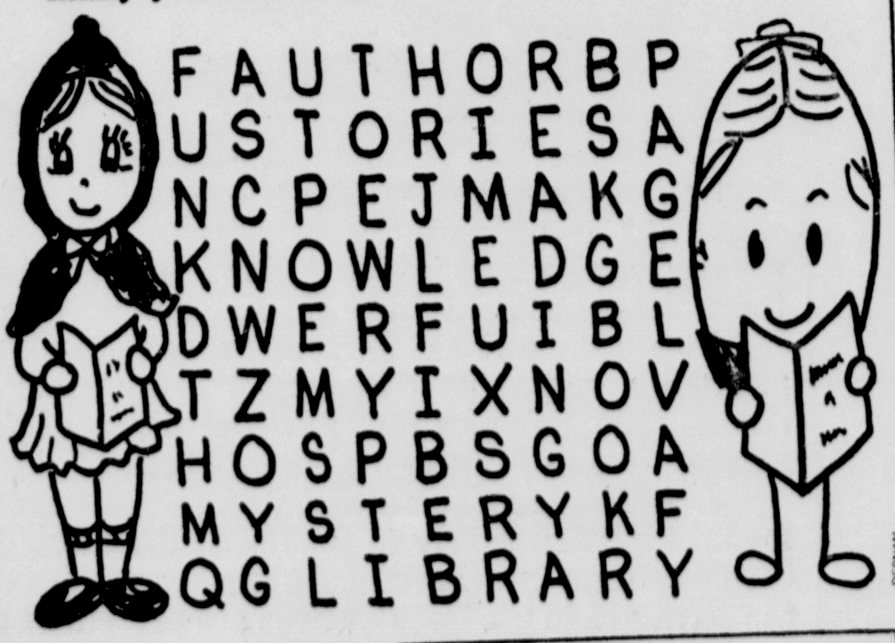

1. Spread newspapers on your desk so you won't get crayon on it.
2. Using your light colored crayons, put five layers of crayon on your board. Cover it heavily!
3. Then add a final layer of black, very heavy, covering all the board.
4. Using the double point of your scissors or a big nail, scratch out your design.

A Scene From Real Life

Glamorous AND functional

by HIAWATHA ESTES

It would require considerable time to locate a home with a more exciting and glamorous exterior and entry than is featured in this attractive design.

Low planters of different heights help to accent the recessed, distinctive archway which is lined with brick and flanked with elegant lighting fixtures. From the arch a quarry tile floor with planting areas on each side leads to the striking twin entry doors. Wooden panels of the same design as the doors are located above the doors to further enhance the entry.

Outstanding traffic flow is available from the wide entry. Partial walls separate the entry from the living area and a private bath. Both this bath and the family bath have pullman lavatories and are economically located next to each other.

The kitchen is strategically located near the front door and garage and is partially separated from the family room by cabinets, including an eating bar nine feet in length. The kitchen has the size and all the equipment and storage space that one can reasonable use. Note the exceptional length of the kitchen-family room. Sliding doors allow the family and living rooms to visually appear much larger by opening to the patio, a delightful indoor-outdoor living arrangement.

Laundry equipment together with a water heater is in an offset at the rear of the garage. The garage is accessible from four doors.

This same basic floor plan and exterior is available in a four-bedroom design and is illustrated in our book, Ranch & Modern Homes.

Complete working drawings for Plan 31081 can be purchased for only $12.67 for the first set and $6.36 for each additional set ordered at the same time. This plan will be available at these special prices until March 11, 1974. Please allow two to three weeks for delivery. A specification booklet is available for $1.06. A large reproduction rendering of the exterior is available for $1.06. The following home plan books are also available: Distinctive Homes — $1.55; Prize Homes — $1.33; Hallmark Homes — $1.33; Town & Country Homes — $1.33; Homes by Hiawatha — $1.33; Ranch & Modern Homes — $2.12. All six books — an $8.77 value — for only $6.89. Orders for less than three books, please add an extra 20 cents per book for postage and handling. Prices include sales tax. Send all orders to: Hiawatha Estes, P.O. Box 404-PO, Northridge, Calif. 91324.

A clean furnace cuts fuel bills

By MR. FIX

If your furnace is not running at its maximum efficiency you are wasting fuel and money and not getting the kind of comfort you should from a heating plant. But if your heating plant is cleaned and checked professionally every fall your problems should be small.

The thermostat is the one control most people are familiar with. The thermostat switches the furnace on automatically when the temperature drops below the level at which you have set it.

A well insulated house adequately weatherstripped and caulked should be comfortable with a thermostat setting of 70 or 72 degrees. During the night you can lower that setting by five to 10 degreees, but not more. Lowering it will save you five to 10 per cent on your heating bill. If you lower the setting too much, however, you wipe out the savings because it takes longer and uses more fuel to get your house warm again.

If people feel chilly drafts they will turn up the thermostat and waste fuel. Seal off all drafts as much as possible.

Keep lamps and television sets away from the thermostat. The heat from these keeps the air around the control warm even though the rest of the house may be cold. The warm air prevents the thermostat from clicking on.

If temperatures drop too low before the control goes on, or too high before it goes off, the thermostat isn't functioning properly. Take off the cover and blow out the dust. Pass a piece of plain paper between the contacts to wipe off dirt. If the thermostat is 10 years old or older consider replacing it.

Modern heating systems have motors. There is a burner motor on an oil-fired system, a blower motor on a forced air furnace, a circulator motor on a hot water system. Make sure these are properly lubricated. Two or three drops a year may be all they need. On a blower system, lubricate the fan. Check fan belts for wear. It's a good idea to keep a spare.

On warm air systems check the filter. If you can't see through the filter, replace it. Count on replacing filters at least once a month during seasons of peak use.

Make sure radiators are clean. Vacuum them regularly. Dust off steam radiators.

There's another control beside the termostat. This is an on-off limit control that prevents the blower or circulator from going on before the air or water are hot. It also keeps the blower or circulator on for a while after the furnace has gone off to continue distributing the warm air or water for a few minutes.

This control is on the furnace and the servicemen should check and adjust it in the fall. Find out where it is and how to make simple adjustments yourself when he services the furnace.

Fuel stockpiling target of French

PARIS (UPI) — France this week moved to prevent fuel stockpiling by outlawing sale of gasoline in portable containers.

Jean Charbonnel, Minister of scientific and industrial development, announced the measure to reduce fire hazards and to prevent "excessive buying."

The new salon will be completed in January in time for the First Anniversary Sale. The new salon will be three times larger than the present facilities and contain the very newest and modern equipment available. The overwhelmingly large membership has forced the expansion plans.

Mary Ellen's credits several unique aspects of the program as the reason for the tremendous success of the operation. "We specialize in taking off unwanted pounds and inches — FAST". "NO CONTRACTS, and the opportunity to prove ourselves on a daily basis. We offer a 90 day program with no lifetime, honarary or yearly memberships. Our ladies attend on an optional visit basis coming to the salon as often as they please. We are a member of the Better Business Bureau, and pride ourselves in the ethical manner in which we operate the Salon", the owner said.

The salon offers spot reducing, re-proportioning, figure conditioning, individual programming, nutritional guidance and complete supervision. Also a weight control program called the Sliminar, in which the psychocology of dieting is taught at weekly meetings.

Figure contouring machines help members to lose where they want to and develop muscle tone and body tone. A program is also available to those who wish to build up and a maternity program which takes expectant mothers up to their seventh month of pregnancy and resumes after the first six week check up. "Our ladies look as though they had never been pregnant".

The salon is open 12 hours a day from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. weekdays and from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday. "Saturdays are Fun Days, we have just completed a course in Karate for our entire membership, and are now teaching Belly Dancing lessons — FREE to members, compliments of Mary Ellen's."

The salon is now offering a special Two for One program at a special $7.50 per month — per person — four month-complete course, as an introductory offer.

Carrie Goodban demonstrates the side bend equipment that slims down the waist and midriff.
